

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Prologue
To Steal, or not to Steal, that is the Question	9
Introduction
Copyright in China and ‘the West’: Textual Appropriation or Intertextuality?	13
Chapter One
What is a Plagiarist?
Guo Jingming – Convicted Plagiarist	53
Chapter Two
To Steal a Book might not be an Elegant Offense: Han Han – Victim of Plagiarism	85
Chapter Three
Dances with Commercialism: Innovation or Imitation of the Bestseller Wolf’s Totem ?	117
Chapter Four
The Politics of Fakery: Harry Potter between Fake and Fan Fiction	161
Chapter Five
The Work of Academic Writing in the Age of Digital Reproduction: Discussions of Academic Plagiarism on the Chinese Internet	199
Conclusion:
Copyright Matters! Authenticity and Authority in Contemporary Chinese Writing	241
Bibliography	249
Index	277