

Table of content

Preface.....	5
Table of content	7
List of Figures	11
List of Tables	15
1 Exploring social capital in Poland	19
1.1 Introduction.....	19
1.2 Poland – the ‘Southern Italy’ of Eastern Europe?.....	20
1.2.1 Relevance of civic legacies.....	20
1.2.2 Lack of civic legacies in Poland; similarities to Southern Italy	21
1.2.3 Contradictions	22
1.3 Research goal, method and research questions.....	24
1.3.1 Communism	25
1.3.2 Systemic transition	26
1.3.3 Catholicism	26
1.4 Study design.....	27
1.4.1 Research strategy.....	27
1.4.2 Data sources.....	29
1.5 Plan of the book	30
2 Social capital – conceptual framework and empirical findings	33
2.1 Introduction.....	33
2.2 Social capital: functions and definition	33
2.2.1 Components of social capital.....	35
2.2.2 Double nature of social capital	40
2.2.3 Social capital as a single construct?.....	41
2.3 Why is social capital an important resource for Central Eastern Europe?	42
2.3.1 Social capital and democracy	42
2.3.2 Social capital destroyed by communism?	43
2.4 Social capital in Central Eastern Europe: operationalisation and distribution	44
2.4.1 Social networks.....	45
2.4.2 Social trust.....	52

2.4.3	Norms and values	54
2.5	Conclusions: is Polish society exceptionally weak endowed with social capital?	60
3	Communist legacy and systemic transition	63
3.1	Time perspective	63
3.2	Before the collapse of communism – similarities across countries	64
3.2.1	Social networks	64
3.2.2	Social trust	69
3.2.3	Norms and values	70
3.3	Before the collapse of communism – dissimilarities	73
3.3.1	Frequent protest action in Poland	74
3.3.2	Relative pluralism and autonomy in Poland	77
3.3.3	Why was “Solidarność” ephemeral?	79
3.3.4	The Catholic Church’s support of the opposition	80
3.3.5	Strong family ties and traditional values	81
3.4	Conclusions – conditions before the collapse of communism	83
3.5	After the collapse of communism – similarities and dissimilarities	83
3.5.1	Persistence of behavioural and attitudinal patterns	84
3.5.2	Negative effects of transition	85
3.6	Conclusions – is the communist legacy and systemic transition different in Poland?	96
4	Catholicism and social capital	99
4.1	Introduction	99
4.2	Why does religion matter for social capital endowment?	99
4.2.1	Exploring “denomination effects”	100
4.2.2	Exploring “affiliation effects”	113
4.3	Conclusions	118
5	Catholicism and social capital in Poland in a comparative perspective – empirical evidence	121
5.1	Introduction	121
5.2	“Denomination effects” across Catholic societies	122
5.2.1	The concept of “Religiously Rooted Conservatism”	122
5.2.2	Religiously Rooted Conservatism and social capital	135
5.2.3	“Denomination effects” – concluding remarks	152
5.3	“Affiliation effects” in Central Eastern Europe	152
5.3.1	Church affiliation and social capital	153
5.3.2	“Affiliation effects” – concluding remarks	181

5.4	The impact of religion on social capital in Poland – conclusions	182
6	Is social capital building different in Poland?.....	187
6.1	Introduction.....	187
6.2	A comprehensive picture of social capital building in Poland	187
6.2.1	Reference group	188
6.2.2	Explaining social capital.....	188
6.3	Research strategy	197
6.4	Exploring determinants of Polish social capital	199
6.4.1	Social networks.....	199
6.4.2	Trust.....	220
6.4.3	Norms and values	225
6.5	Different mechanisms of social capital building in Poland: conclusions	232
7	Why is Poland an exception among post-communist societies?	237
7.1	Introduction.....	237
7.2	Main findings.....	237
7.2.1	Crucial factors.....	237
7.2.2	Dissimilar conditions or mechanisms?.....	241
7.3	Implications for the future.....	243
7.3.1	Future development of social capital in Poland	243
7.3.2	Implications for further research	247
	References	249