

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	5
Contents.....	9
Abbreviations	11
 1. Introduction	 15
1.1 Terminology	16
1.2 History of scholarship.....	19
1.3 Materials, methods, structure.....	23
1.4 Leading ideas.....	25
 2. Athens – a case study	 27
2.1 Early evidence	29
2.2 The fourth century BCE, a century of orgeones associations.....	30
2.3 Peak-time for religious associatons in Athens?.....	36
2.4 Orgeones in Piraeus – The case of the dionysiastai	43
2.5 Decrease in evidence	46
2.6 Early Roman Athens: new activities in the centre of the city.....	47
2.7 Conclusion Athens.....	48
 3. Delos, a case study	 51
3.1 Religious associations worshipping the Egyptian gods.....	52
3.2 Religious associations worshipping at the ‘Sanctuary of the Syrian gods’	57
3.3 The sanctuaries of the ‘Oriental deities’ and the Kyntheion.....	58
3.4 Religious associations to be linked with the ‘Synagogue’	61
3.5 Other associations – the example of the poseidoniastai of Berytos	65
3.6 The institutionalisation of the Delian sanctuaries	66
3.7 Conclusion Delos.....	68
 4. The people: personnel and participants	 71
4.1 The Egyptian deities: a case sui generis	73
4.2 Groups worshipping other ‘new’ gods	92
4.3 Metic initiators, participants and office-holders.....	99
4.4 Conclusion People, personnel, and participants.....	107
 5. Architecture and archaeology	 110
5.1 Epigraphic evidence of architectural structures	110
5.2 Funerary sites	113
5.3 Religious associations in temples and sanctuaries	118

5.4	Dining halls attached to temples	121
5.5	Free-standing assembly-rooms	127
5.6	Religious associations and public space	136
5.7	Conclusion: architecture and archaeology	138
6.	Religious associations and civic institutions.....	141
6.1	Athens	142
6.2	Delos	148
6.3	Rhodes.....	151
6.4	Conclusion Religious associations and civic institutions	158
7.	Conclusion.....	160
8.	Bibliography.....	166
	Appendix I.....	175
	Appendix II	184
	The Jews in the Diaspora.....	184
	The Septuagint.....	185
	General Index	186