

Inhalt

Introduction	7
Stephan Rixen / Klaus-Jürgen Nagel
Trajectories of Catalan nationalism and its present discontents	14
Hans-Jürgen Puhle
A “right to decide”? On the normative basis of a political principle and its application to the Catalan case	28
Jaume López
The Spanish constitution, the Constitutional Court, and the Catalan referendum	42
Antoni Abat i Ninet
Catalonia’s independence – is there a way in international and European Union law?	52
Hermann-Josef Blanke / Yasser Abdelrehim
Catalonia: a failure of accommodation?	98
Ivan Serrano
Which people? Exploration of the role of immigration in the secessionist process of Catalonia	115
Núria Franco-Guillén
Language policy and Catalan independence	129
Peter A. Kraus
Fiscal issues of Catalan independence	141
Elisenda Paluzie

Becoming more independent without independence? Strong federalism with territorial autonomy as an alternative: the case of Belgium	157
Stephan Rixen
Devolution in the UK – a slippery slope or an alternative to independence?	169
Markus Möstl
Scottish independence in Europe – a model for others?	182
Florian Becker
The consequences of an independent Catalonia for the German foreign policy	197
Mario Kölling
Independent Catalonia – a viable new European state?	209
Klaus-Jürgen Nagel
Some conclusions and final reflections	224
Klaus-Jürgen Nagel / Stephan Rixen
Authors	229