

Inhaltsverzeichnis

Table of treaties and community materials	13
Table of cases	17
List of abbreviations	25
1 Introduction	29
1.1 Regional integration through jurisprudence?	35
1.1.1 The case of the Court of Justice of the European Union	36
1.1.2 The freedom of scope of African Community Courts	42
1.2 Research method: The “efficacy-test”	44
1.2.1 Assessment criteria: Structure, process and outcome	48
1.2.2 Influential factors	51
1.2.2.1 Dependency on state consent	51
1.2.2.2 Jurisdiction	52
1.2.2.3 Case load and case quality	53
1.2.2.4 Differences of legal systems and cultures	54
1.2.2.5 Characteristics of judiciaries	55
1.3 Overview of contents and clarifications	57
2 Regional integration in Africa	60
2.1 Introduction	60
2.2 Regionalism as an alternative	62
2.3 Integration in African Regional Economic Communities	67
2.3.1 Economic integration	68
2.3.2 Political integration	70
2.3.3 Legal integration	71
2.4 Overview of the selected Economic Communities	72
2.4.1 The Economic Community of West African States	72
2.4.2 The Southern African Development Community	76
2.4.3 The East African Community	79
2.4.4 Three communities and one objective	82
2.4.5 External environmental outlook	83

2.5 Conclusion	91
3 African Regional Community Courts	94
3.1 Introduction	94
3.2 General Court overview	98
3.2.1 The Court of Justice of the Economic Community of West African States	98
3.2.2 The Southern African Development Community Tribunal	101
3.2.3 The East African Community Court of Justice	108
3.2.4 Strategic plans and extra-judicial activities	110
3.3 Community court judges and their role	114
3.3.1 Qualification requirements and nomination procedure	115
3.3.2 Ensuring independence	117
3.3.3 Removal from office	122
3.4 Court administration and finances	123
3.5 Conclusion	125
4 Methodology	129
4.1 Introduction	129
4.2 Structure and outline	131
4.3 Language	134
4.3.1 Diction and characteristics of style in judgment composition	134
4.3.2 Proportionality of language	139
4.4 The process of decision-making	140
4.4.1 Judicial discretion	141
4.4.2 Instruments for decision-making	143
4.4.3 Logic and comprehensibility for legally impermeable derivations	150
4.5 Conclusion	152
5 Procedure of and before Regional Community Courts	156
5.1 Introduction	156
5.2 Jurisdiction of Regional Community Courts	160
5.2.1 Subject-matter jurisdiction	160
5.2.1.1 Interpretation and application of Treaties	161
5.2.1.2 Internal community-employee disputes	162

5.2.1.3	Arbitral jurisdiction	163
5.2.1.4	Human rights	164
5.2.1.4.1	Southern Africa: Deriving human rights jurisdiction from Campbell v. Zimbabwe	165
5.2.1.4.2	East Africa: Deriving human rights jurisdiction from Katabazi v. Uganda	168
5.2.2	Personal jurisdiction	175
5.2.2.1	Actors and constellations	175
5.2.2.2	Personal preconditions: Exhaustion of local remedies and standing	179
5.2.2.2.1	Koraou v. Niger: The local remedies rule in West Africa	181
5.2.2.2.2	Campbell v. Zimbabwe: Applying the exception to the local remedies rule in Southern Africa	184
5.2.2.2.3	Rugumba v. Rwanda: The local remedies rule in East Africa	189
5.2.2.2.4	Locus standi	190
5.2.3	Territorial and temporal jurisdiction	196
5.2.4	Conflict of jurisdiction: The principles of lis pendens and res judicata	197
5.2.5	Appellate jurisdiction	200
5.3	General procedure	204
5.3.1	Written proceedings	205
5.3.2	Oral proceedings	209
5.3.3	Judgment publication and legal effects	210
5.4	Special forms of procedure	213
5.4.1	Issuance of interim measures	213
5.4.2	Third party interventions	215
5.4.3	Preliminary reference procedure	216
5.4.4	Advisory opinions	218
5.5	Conclusion	221
6	Relational aspects of regional integration	228
6.1	Introduction	228

6.2 Principles of community-state relations	231
6.2.1 Supremacy, direct applicability and direct effect of community law	232
6.2.2 Implications of relational principles for the integration process	234
6.2.3 The law of integration: Instruments of community legislation	235
6.3 Jurisprudence on the relation of community and national law	239
6.3.1 Implications from Anyang' Nyong'o v. Kenya	241
6.3.2 Implications from the Zimbabwean land reform law suits	243
6.3.3 Commonalities in legal reasoning and decision-making	244
6.3.4 Developing autonomous legal community systems?	246
6.3.4.1 Harmonization of laws as a third path in East Africa	249
6.3.4.2 Putting legislative theory into practice – experiences from West Africa	253
6.3.4.3 Addressing the need for cross-border related applications in West and Southern Africa	255
6.3.4.4 Integrative jurisprudence through common market law and proper jurisdiction: Recent developments in East Africa	260
6.4 Pinpointing the role of member states and national institutions in the process of integration	267
6.4.1 National legal culture as a factor for assessing the integrative potential of jurisprudence	271
6.4.2 The role of national courts in clarifying community law status	274
6.4.3 Interim conclusion: (Un)justified reluctance on the part of national courts?	280
6.5 Conclusion	283
7 Integration through human rights protection	286
7.1 Introduction	286
7.2 The role of Regional Economic Communities in the protection of human rights	292
7.2.1 Human rights agendas in Regional Economic Communities?	292

7.2.2 The legal dimension of community human rights objectives	296
7.3 Substantive human rights case law	299
7.3.1 Human rights case law to strengthen the environment of integration	300
7.3.2 Fostering economic freedoms through human rights	305
7.4 The rationale behind sub-regional human rights protection	307
7.4.1 Challenges arising from the newly emerging sub-regional level	310
7.4.1.1 Community Courts as proper fora for human rights protection	310
7.4.1.2 The applicable human rights law	311
7.4.1.3 Relational problems of a four-level human rights system	315
7.4.2 First steps towards a continental human rights architecture	318
7.5 Conclusion	322
8 Contempt of court – The problem of non-compliance	325
8.1 Introduction	325
8.1.1 Solely a question of legitimacy?	326
8.1.2 Understanding non-compliance to ease legitimacy challenges	327
8.2 Non-compliance as a common theme in international regimes	329
8.3 Approaches to tackling non-compliance	334
8.3.1 Judgment enforcement in Regional Communities	334
8.3.2 Comparative approach: The European Union enforcement mechanism	338
8.3.3 Evaluation of enforcement mechanisms	339
8.4 Anticipating and countering contempt of court	341
8.4.1 European enforcement schemes as solution statement for African Regional Communities?	342
8.4.2 Proposed measure: A ladder of enforcement	345
8.4.2.1 Stage one: No relation of non-compliance due to resource incapacities or legal uncertainty	346
8.4.2.2 Stage two: Calling on community main institutions	346

8.4.2.3 Stage three: Court ruling on sanctions	347
8.4.2.4 Stage four: Suspension of membership	348
8.5 Conclusion	350
9 Conclusion	356
9.1 Summary	356
9.1.1 The Courts' contribution to integration: Putting the findings into perspective	358
9.1.2 Legal transplants for African economic integration?	363
9.2 Extending the effective range: Proposals to effectuating the integration process	365
9.3 Future outlook	369
Bibliography	373
Eidesstattliche Erklärung	391