

CONTENTS

Chapter 1. Introduction .....	21
1.1 Overview of the Chinese market conditions after the WTO accession.....	22
1.2 Regions and regional/local protectionism .....	26
1.2.1 Overview of regions in China .....	26
1.2.2 Regional competition and local protectionism.....	27
1.3 The WTO and the common market in China .....	30
1.4 Interests of civil society and the WTO .....	31
1.5 Structure of this book.....	34
 Chapter 2. World Trade Organization (WTO) and China .....	39
2.1 GATT/WTO .....	39
2.1.1 GATT and the principle of non-discrimination .....	39
2.1.2 GATT/WTO and the process of dispute settlement.....	40
2.1.3 GATT/WTO and the local government clause .....	41
2.2 WTO accession .....	42
2.2.1 International agreements and domestic laws in China.....	42
2.2.2 Process of China's accession into the WTO .....	43
2.3 China's interest in the WTO membership.....	45
2.4 Role and interest of the United States and other Western countries .....	46
2.5 Highlights of the US-China WTO Agreement and its influence on the commercial relations between the US-China .....	47
2.6 Highlights of the EU-China WTO Agreement and its influence on the commercial relations between the EU-China .....	49
2.7 Overview of the India – China WTO Agreement .....	49

2.8	Opportunities for political and economic reform .....	51
2.8.1	Overview of the requirements of different agreements .....	51
2.8.2	Political economic regime and judicial review .....	51
2.8.3	Economical and institutional reforms after the WTO entry.....	52
2.8.4	Possible impacts of the WTO.....	53
2.9	Possible benefits and disadvantages of China's WTO membership.....	54
2.10	Continuation of the economic boom and expansion since the WTO membership .....	57
2.11	Concerns and protective measures in other countries since China's WTO membership .....	58
Chapter 3. History and Development of Regional Protectionism .....		61
3.1	History and cultural background of local protectionism .....	61
3.1.1	Historical reasons for local protection .....	61
3.1.2	Overview of Chinese history and duke power .....	62
3.1.2.1	Stages of Chinese history.....	63
3.1.2.2	Ancient Chinese history.....	65
3.1.2.3	First phase of the Chinese empire.....	66
3.1.2.4	Second phase of the Chinese empire under the Mongols.....	67
3.1.2.5	Third phase of the Chinese empire – revival of civilisation.....	68
3.1.2.6	Exploration and isolation of the Ming Dynasty .....	69
3.1.2.7	Last phase of the Chinese empire – the Manchu Dynasty .....	69
3.1.2.8	The Republic of China.....	70
3.1.2.9	The People's Republic of China.....	71
3.1.3	Cultural background and economic incentives for local protection .....	73

3.2 Issue of route-dependence of the reform .....	74
3.2.1 Local leaders as an impetus for the reform and opening policy .....	74
3.2.2 Local leaders as obstacles for the reform and opening policy .....	75
3.3 Fiscal policy since the economic reform .....	75
3.4 Competition among different regional governments .....	77
3.5 Different models of structural breaks by provinces .....	78
3.5.1 First experiment for a market reform under the protection of the province of Anhui .....	78
3.5.2 Models for structural breaks in different provinces .....	79
3.6 Overview of the different regional economic situations .....	82
3.7 Inequality of regional economic development in China .....	85
3.7.1 Regional inequality as an influential factor .....	85
3.7.2 Reasons for the regional inequality in China .....	86
3.7.3 Consequences and effects of regional inequality .....	91
3.8 Local protectionism and regional specialisation .....	92
3.8.1 Overview of local protectionism and regional specialisation .....	92
3.8.2 Analysis of regional specialisation .....	95
3.8.3 Data and measurement of local protectionism and regional specialisation .....	96
3.9 Development of local protectionism and regional GDP growth .....	97
 Chapter 4. Administrative Market Monopoly .....	101
4.1 Different types of monopolies .....	101
4.1.1 Market monopoly and monopolistic competition .....	101
4.1.2 Natural monopoly .....	102
4.1.3 Administrative market monopoly .....	103

4.2	Forms and effects of administrative market monopoly in China .....	103
4.2.1	Major forms of administrative market monopoly in China .....	104
4.2.1.1	Practice of holding on to the past and of preventing competition in the market.....	105
4.2.1.2	Problems of the legal system and the legalisation of local interests .....	105
4.2.1.3	Local protective price policies and trade conflicts .....	106
4.2.1.4	Administrative subordination of utility industries.....	107
4.3	Reasons for administrative market monopolies .....	108
4.3.1	Transition process from planned economy into market economy in China.....	108
4.3.2	Historical reasons .....	109
4.3.3	Influence of a highly planned centralised economy and reform policies.....	110
4.4	Major characteristics of administrative market monopolies in China.....	110
4.5	Profit analysis of administrative market monopolies .....	112
4.5.1	Enormous economic loss.....	112
4.5.2	Profit of administrative market monopolies in China .....	113
4.5.2.1	Profit – maximizing conditions for market monopolies.....	113
4.5.2.2	Waste analysis of administrative market monopolies .....	115
4.6	Further reforms and visions for the future.....	116
4.6.1	Public concerns about administrative market monopolies.....	116
4.6.2	Progress made on reforms on administrative market monopolies .....	117
4.6.3	Introducing competition as a possible solution.....	118
4.6.4	Further reforms to curb administrative monopolies.....	118
4.7	Countermeasures and conclusion .....	120
4.7.1	Deepening of the system and the constitutional reform.....	120
4.7.2	Strengthening competition mechanisms.....	121

Chapter 5. Status Quo and Characteristics of Local Protectionism in China and its Detriments .....	123
5.1 Interregional protection – Implications of fiscal decentralisation and trade liberalisation .....	123
5.1.1 Possible reasons for interregional protection .....	123
5.1.2 Implications of fiscal decentralisation .....	124
5.1.3 Profits of local protectionism .....	125
5.1.4 A model describing the rise and fall of interregional protection .....	125
5.1.5 Comparison between regions .....	128
5.1.6 Interregional protection and costs of market entry .....	129
5.1.7 Discussion .....	130
5.2 The WTO commitments and independent judicial review .....	131
5.2.1 Interference .....	131
5.2.2 Intra-court influence and bribery .....	131
5.2.3 Reform efforts and fundamental problems .....	132
5.3 Local Protectionism and China's WTO Compliance .....	133
5.4 Detriments for the economic development .....	135
5.5 Analysis of forged and poor quality goods and local protectionism .....	137
5.5.1 Present situation of forged goods in China .....	138
5.5.1.1 Forged goods and the allocation of market resources .....	138
5.5.1.2 Forged goods and social distribution .....	139
5.5.1.3 Forged goods and the detriments for social welfare .....	141
5.5.2 Background information and potential of forged and poor quality products .....	143
5.5.2.1 A cost-benefit analysis of forged goods production .....	143
5.5.2.2 A concrete analysis of factors influencing the production of forged goods .....	145

5.5.3	Suggestions of possible countermeasures .....	146
5.6	Local protectionism and the model of a grabbing-hand economy .....	147
5.6.1	Grabbing-hand economy in China .....	147
5.6.1.1	Factor market: a grabbing-hand economy .....	147
5.6.1.2	Seizing factor capital .....	148
5.6.2	Local governments grabbing the property of enterprises and private persons.....	148
5.7	Employment protection .....	149
5.8	Status quo of SOEs and local protection .....	151
5.9	Environmental protection and the negative influences of local protection.....	152
5.9.1	Environment and resources .....	152
5.9.2	Policies to protect the environment.....	153
5.9.3	Environmental administrative system and regional officials.....	156
5.9.4	Overview of the current status quo and negative influences on the environmental industry.....	157
5.10	Local protectionism in debt cases .....	159
5.11	Transition from a planned economy to a market economy .....	161
Chapter 6. Game between the Central Government in Beijing and Local Governments .....		165
6.1	Regional protection and transformation of government functions.....	165
6.2	Game Theory and Protectionism .....	166
6.2.1	Examples of game theory .....	167
6.2.1.1	Pollution game .....	167
6.2.1.2	Games in economic life .....	168
6.3	Game between local governments and the central government.....	169
6.3.1	Loser of the game .....	169

6.3.2 Invisible Hand vs. Visible Hand and Busy Hand of the Government .....	171
6.3.3 Financial game between the central government and local governments in the domain market.....	172
6.3.3.1 Visible-hand approach of local governments in the real estate market.	172
6.3.3.2 Countermeasures against the growing prices for housing and land .....	173
6.3.3.3 Different goals of local governments and the central government .....	173
6.4 Making laws: the game between ministries of the central government and the National Congress in Beijing.....	174
6.5 Joint corruption of executives of SOEs and local governments.....	176
6.5.1 Overview .....	176
6.5.2 Reasons for joint corruption.....	177
6.5.3 Game of joint corruption.....	179
6.5.4 Methods against joint corruption .....	182
6.5.4.1 Improving the structure of state-owned enterprises .....	182
6.5.4.2 Improving the mechanisms of prosecution.....	183
6.6 Open conflict between local protection and the authority of the central government .....	184
6.6.1 Conflict between local protection and the central government regarding coal mine accidents .....	184
6.6.2 Figurehead of the central authority .....	185
6.6.3 Discussion about possible reasons for conflict .....	186
6.6.3.1 Latent and open conflicts.....	186
6.6.3.2 Rent-seeking of regional officials.....	187
6.6.3.3 Possible ways of solving this dilemma.....	187

Chapter 7. Influence of Local Protectionism on FDI.....	189
7.1 Development of Special Economic Zones in China.....	189
7.1.1 Overview of Special Economic Zones.....	189
7.1.2 SEZs and the WTO .....	191
7.2 Development of a Free Trade Zone in China .....	192
7.3 Foreign Trade and FDI in China.....	193
7.3.1 Opening Policy and Foreign Trade .....	193
7.3.2 Foreign exchange and FDI in China .....	194
7.3.3 Role of FDI in China.....	196
7.3.4 Evaluation of Foreign Investment.....	197
7.4 Analysis of the foreign investment after accession into the WTO.....	200
7.4.1 Implications of FDI .....	200
7.4.2 Possible reasons for the enormous foreign trade surplus.....	200
7.4.3 Different interests of investors and their host country .....	202
7.5 Current law system regulating FDI .....	203
7.5.1 Demand for FDI rules after the WTO entry.....	203
7.5.2 Necessary improvements to foreign investment laws.....	204
7.5.3 Domestic judicial environment and WTO's demands on transparency...	205
7.6 FDI and local protectionism .....	207
7.6.1 Different effects of FDI inflow .....	207
7.6.2 Competition between regions for FDI.....	208
7.6.3 Low labour cost and FDI.....	208
7.6.4 Status quo of local officials regarding the FDI situation .....	209
7.7 Possible factors that have a negative influence .....	209
7.7.1 Negative influences on the FDI inflow .....	209
7.7.2 Foreign firms' monopolies.....	210

Chapter 8. Discussion and Conclusions.....	213
8.1 China's rights and obligations following the WTO membership .....	213
8.2 China as a developing country.....	214
8.3 Breaking new ground on dispute settlements.....	215
8.4 Positive changes and people's opinions since WTO entry.....	216
8.5 Different attitudes towards globalisation.....	217
8.6 Further opening to the world .....	218
8.7 Globalisation and WTO membership.....	220
8.7.1 Adoption of globalisation strategies for both China and Western countries .....	220
8.7.2 More competition and liberalisation since the WTO membership .....	220
8.7.3 Impact on trade patterns and protective actions of developed countries .....	221
8.8 Reasons and influence factors for local protectionism.....	222
8.8.1 Fiscal decentralisation .....	222
8.8.2 Regional inequality .....	223
8.8.3 Underdeveloped factor market.....	223
8.8.4 Guanxi, regional seigneur power, and rent seeking.....	224
8.8.5 Economic growth mode and short-term actions of local governments....	225
8.8.6 Imperfections and the lack of democracy and a legal system.....	226
8.9 Power economy and market monopoly .....	227
8.9.1 Administrative power and "power economy" .....	227
8.9.2 Administrative power and administrative market monopoly.....	227
8.10 Revenue and subsidies by local protective governments.....	228
8.10.1 Local protective revenue under administrative power .....	228
8.10.2 Local subsidies from regional governments .....	228

8.10.3	Parasitic behaviour of local officials and SOEs .....	229
8.10.4	Local protection and risk society .....	230
8.11	Different characteristics and degrees of local protectionism on various levels .....	230
8.11.1	Issue of route dependence in careers of provincial leaders.....	230
8.11.2	Route-dependant behaviour of sub-provincial officials.....	231
8.11.3	Degrees of protectionism .....	233
8.12	Government failure and transformation of current governments' roles .....	234
8.12.1	Government failure .....	234
8.12.2	Transformation of the government role and adjustment of the unsuitable economic growth mode.....	234
8.13	Other issues .....	235
8.13.1	Loser of the game between the central and local governments .....	235
8.13.2	Special Economic Zones (SEZ) and Free Trade Zones .....	236
8.13.3	Foreign direct investment.....	236
8.14	Possible countermeasures against local protectionism .....	237
8.15	Epilogue .....	238
	Appendix A .....	241
	Bibliography.....	245