

Table of Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments.....	vii
Kristján Árnason
Introduction.....	ix
Frog & Tonya Kim Dewey
Diachronic Approaches
1. Early Runic ‘metrical’ inscriptions–How metrical are they?	3
Michael Schulte
2. Metrical learning and the First Grammatical Treatise	23
Guðrún Nordal
3. On Kuhn’s Laws and Craigie’s Law in Old Icelandic poetry.....	39
Kristján Árnason
4. The syntax of the verb in Old Icelandic: Evidence from poetry...61
Thórhallur Eythórsson
5. The effect of prosody on the linear structure of adpositional phrases in eddic verse.....	79
Tonya Kim Dewey
6. Alliteration and grammatical categories	91
Ragnar Ingi Aðalsteinsson
Generative Approaches
7. Old English feet.....	105
Chris Golston
8. Accents left and right.....	123
Tomas Riad
9. Formal interactions in poetic meter.....	147
Nigel Fabb
10. How Germanic features can appear in Italian metrical poetry	167
Stefano Versace
Performative Aesthetics
11. The poem as a site of inherited structures and artistic innovation	183
Sissel Furuseth
12. Dipod rules: Norwegian stev , paired accents and accentual poetry	207
Jacqueline Pattison Ekgren

13. Speech-acts in skaldic verse: Genre, compositional strategies and improvisation.....	223
Frog
14. No royal road: The extremes of dróttkvætt lines in Snorri's Háttatal	247
Helgi Skúli Kjartansson
15. Gnast and brast : On metrics, enjambment and more in two ditties in Gísla saga , the shorter version.....	259
Bergljót Soffía Kristjánsdóttir
16. Towards a theory of aesthetic rhythm.....	273
Eva Lilja
Index	293