

CONTENTS

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| INTRODUCTION   | 7   |
| 1 CONTAMINATION  | 17  |
| 1.1 Opening – in vivo  | 18  |
| 1.2 Product of Circumstances by Xavier le Roy: A Critique of the Circumstances of Production                            | 32  |
| 1.3 Transcendental Empiricism: Deleuze and Guattari's Method   | 67  |
| 2 ARTICULATION   | 95  |
| 2.1 Articulatory Practice – in situ  | 98  |
| 2.2 Passing Representation: Articulation as Differential Composition of the Sensible   | 116 |
| 2.2.1 How to Make Sense With Signs: Sensible Differences   | 117 |
| 2.2.2 How to Make Sense with Differential Compositions: Towards a Topology of Articulations                                    | 129 |
| 3 CHOREOGRAPHING RELATIONS OF CONTAMINATION AND ARTICULATION   | 145 |
| 3.1 Retenu  | 145 |
| 3.1.1 Cinematic Retenu: Self-Unfinished by Xavier Le Roy and What a body you have, honey by Eszter Salamon       | 167 |
| 3.1.2 Cine-emotional Retenu: Holding Hands by Antonia Baehr   | 188 |
| 3.2 Dé-lire   | 209 |
| Rereading the production of choreography, choreographing the force of time: All Good Spies Are My Age by Juan Dominguez |     |
| CONCLUSION   | 235 |
| APPENDIX   | 247 |
| FIGURES  | 251 |
| BIBLIOGRAPHY   | 253 |