Contents

INTRODUCTION

Beyond the Public Sphere: A Historiographical Transition, by Massimo Rospocher p. 9

THEORY AND PRACTICES

The Early-Modern State and the Rise of the Public Sphere. A Systems-Theory Approach, by Andreas Gestrich 31

Absolutism and the Birth of the Public Sphere. A Critical View of a Model, by Francesco Benigno 53

The Richness of History and the Multiplicity of Experiences in Early Modern Societies. The Self-Description of «Alteuropa» by Luhmann, by Angela De Benedictis 73

SPACES, VOICES, HUMORS

An Evanescent Public Sphere. Voices, Spaces, and Publics in Venice during the Italian Wars, by Massimo Rospocher and Rosa Salzberg 93

Public Sphere or Communication Triangle? Information and Politics in Early Modern Europe, by Filippo De Vivo 115

«Fama», Humors, and Conflicts. A Re-reading of Machiavelli’s «Florentine Histories», by Sandro Landi 137

PUBLICS

Constructing Selves, Making Publics: Geometry and Poetry in Descartes and Sidney, by Shankar Raman 167
1514, 1516, 1517: The Public Space and its Limits, by Silvana Seidel Menchi

Social Networking. The «Album amicorum» and Early Modern Public Making, by Bronwen Wilson

OPINIONS

«There are lots of papers going around and it’d be better if there weren’t». Broadsides and Public Opinion in the Spanish Monarchy in the Seventeenth Century, by Antonio Castillo Gomez

The Making of a Public Issue in Early Modern Europe. The Spanish Inquisition and Public Opinion in the Netherlands, by Arjan van Dixhoorn

Public Opinion and Free-market Morality in Old Regime and Revolutionary France, by Charles Walton

Public/Secret: Eighteenth-Century Hesitations about «Public Opinion», by Edoardo Tortarolo

Authors