Table of Contents

Acknowledgments — VII

Silvia Stoller
Beauvoir’s The Coming of Age — 1

Part One: Age and Gender

Penelope Deutscher
The Sex of Age and the Age of Sex
The Compressions of Life — 29

Ulrike Kadi
Gender, Age, and Passivity
Comment on Penelope Deutscher — 43

Gail Weiss
The Myth of Woman Meets the Myth of Old Age
An Alienating Encounter with the Aging Female Body — 47

Anja Weiberg
Age as a Problem for Both Sexes
Comment on Gail Weiss — 65

Helen A. Fielding
The Poetry of Habit
Beauvoir and Merleau-Ponty on Aging Embodiment — 69

Kristin Rodier
Are Poetic Habits Particular to the Aged?
Comment on Helen A. Fielding — 83

Part Two: Age and Ethics

Sonia Kruks
Beauvoir’s The Coming of Age and Sartre’s Critique of Dialectical Reason
The Material Mediations of Age as Lived Experience — 89
Elisabeth Schäfer
Habits Shifting Into Projects
Comment on Sonia Kruks —— 103

Linda Fisher
The Other Without and the Other Within
The Altery of Aging and the Aged in Beauvoir's The Coming of Age —— 107

Veronica Vasterling
Fear of Old Age
Comment on Linda Fisher —— 123

Debra Bergoffen
The Dignity of Finitude —— 127

Gertrude Postl
Different Finite Bodies
Comment on Debra Bergoffen —— 143

Dorothea Olkowski
Letting Go the Weight of the Past
Beauvoir and the Joy of Existence —— 147

Annemie Halsema
Ethics and Nature
Comment on Dorothea Olkowski —— 161

Part Three: Age and Time

Sara Heinämaa
Transformations of Old Age
Selfhood, Normativity, and Time —— 167

Bonnie Mann
Revisioning Classical Phenomenology
Comment on Sara Heinämaa —— 191

Silvia Stoller
We in the Other, and the Child in Us
The Intersection of Time in Beauvoir and Merleau-Ponty —— 195
Marieke Borren
Towards a Gerontological Ethics of Existence?
Comment on Silvia Stoller — 211

Christina Schües
Age and Future
Phenomenological Paths of Optimism — 215

Beata Stawarska
Ambiguous Future
Comment on Christina Schües — 231

Contributors — 235

Index of Names — 243