Table of Contents – Part II

Humanities Computing

The Responsa Project: Some Promising Future Directions .................. 1
Moshe Koppel

The Historical Significance of the Cambridge Genizah Inventory Project ......................................................... 9
Rebecca J.W. Jefferson

The Princeton University Geniza Project: Using the Internet for Jewish and Islamic Research .............................. 38
Mark R. Cohen

Design and Evaluation of a Visitor Guide in an Active Museum ........ 47
Oliviero Stock, Tsvi Kuflik, Massimo Zancanaro, Dina Goren-Bar, Ariel Gorfinkel, Sadek Jbara, Shahar Kats, Julia Sheidin, and Nadav Kashtan

Judaica Europeana: Jewish Semantics in the Linked Data Semantic Web ....................................................... 72
Dov Winer

Paradise Lost and Milton’s Associative Memory .............................. 88
Ian Lancashire

Special Effects; or, The Tooling Is Here. Where Are the Results? ...... 103
Willard McCarty

Narratives and Their Formal Representation

Representation and Management of Complex ‘Narrative’ Information ... 118
Gian Piero Zarri

Tale Variants and Analysis in Episodic Formulae:
Early Ottoman, Elizabethan, and “Solomonic” Versions ................. 138
Ephraim Nissan

On Chance, Causality, Agency, Volition, and Communication:
The Case of the Subversive Parrot of Sfakion .......................... 193
Ephraim Nissan

Narratives, Formalism, Computational Tools, and Nonlinearity ....... 270
Ephraim Nissan
Review of Ontology Based Storytelling Devices ........................................ 394
Dov Winer

History of Ideas: The Numerate Disciplines

When Being Numerate Used to Mean Something Else:
The Case of Number Symbolism in the Hebrew Bible ....................... 406
Meir Bar-Ilan

Law, Computer Law, and Legal Computing

Risks to Consider When Negotiating IT Outsourcing Agreements .......... 424
Subha Chandar and John Zeleznikow

There Is More to Legal Reasoning with Analogies than Case Based Reasoning, But What? ................................................................. 440
Ruth Kannai, Uri J. Schild, and John Zeleznikow

A Quarter of Century in Artificial Intelligence and Law:
Projects, Personal Trajectories, a Subjective Perspective ............ 452
Ephraim Nissan, Carmelo Asaro, Aldo Franco Dragoni,
Dany Yamen Farook, and Solomon Eyal Shimony

Simplification and Quality of the Legal System ................................ 696
Antonio A. Martino

The Digesto Jurídico Argentino: Considerations Concerning a Large Juridical Project ................................................................. 721
Antonio A. Martino

Author Index .................................................................................. 751