1 Why the Digital Revolution Is Challenging You and Why You Have to Act Now ................................................................. 1
3 Big Data and Technology: Drivers of the Information Revolution on the Part of the Companies and Accelerators of the Era of Cooperation ................................................................. 77
4 How the Social Revolution Is to Be Managed ................................................................. 99
5 How Marketing Becomes the ROI Driver Within the Company ................................................................. 129
6 Confidence: The Latest Currency in Marketing and Management ................................................................. 147
7 Social CRM: The New Rules of the Game in Leading Customers ................................................................. 163
8 Why Marketing Is Becoming a Service ................................................................. 193
9 The Necessity of Change Management: Why Our Traditional Communication and Organizational Structures Are Becoming Obsolete ................................................................. 209
Appendix ................................................................................................................................. 249
References ................................................................................................................................. 251