Contents

List of Illustrations ix

List of Tables xiii

KEVIN MCCAFFERTY, KARI E. HAUGLAND AND KRISTIAN A. RUSTEN
Preface: Charms of grammar/Source of all glamour xix

PART ONE Existential there and other expletives 1

KARI E. HAUGLAND
Pa rinde hit & per comun flod & bleowun windas: On expletives and word order in Old English 3

GARD B. JENSET
In search of the S (curve) in there 27

MARÍA JOSÉ LÓPEZ-COUSO AND SUSANA FORMOSO-RODRÍGUEZ
There follows + that-clause: A case of syntactic blend? 55

PART TWO Adverbials 75

KRISTIN KILLIE
The development of colour adverbs in Norwegian and English: Similar paths, different paths 77
TORIL SWAN

_Hopefully: The evolution of a sentence adverbial_ 99

PART THREE Grammar

GISLE ANDERSEN

The double copula revisited 119

BJØRG BÆKKEN

The noun phrase as a style marker in seventeenth-century English 141

DAGMAR HAUMANN

On the ascent and decline of the passive _tough_-infinitive 167

KEVIN MCCAFFERTY

_I think that I will be after making love to one of them:_
A revised account of Irish English _be after V-ing_ and its Irish source 197

ANA ELINA MARTÍNEZ-INSUA

Language, medicine and choice: A Systemic-Functional study of Early Modern English medical writing 223

KRISTIAN A. RUSTEN

Null referential subjects from Old to Early Modern English 249
PART FOUR  Information structure and pragmatics  271

KRISTIN BECH
Non-specificity and genericity in information structure annotation  273

ØYSTEIN HEGGELUND
Information structure as an independent word ordering factor in Old and Middle English  299

PART FIVE  Discourse  329

SARAH HOEM IVERSEN
Do you understand this, my little pupil?: Children's dictionaries, pedagogy and constructions of childhood in the nineteenth century  331

MERJA STENROOS
Fugitive voices: Personal involvement in Middle English letters of defence  355

ANNA-BRITA STENSTRÖM
The pragmatic marker come on in teenage talk  381

Leiv Egil Breivik: A bibliography  395

Notes on contributors  399

Index  405