Contents

Introduction ......................................................... 1
Richard Lance Keeble

Section 1. Digging into the Historical Roots of Literary Journalism
1. Reasons to Be Cheerful: Leigh Hunt and His Versatile, Trenchant, Observant, Empathetic, Witty Journalism ................................................................. 19
   John Drew, Professor of English Literature, Buckingham University
2. Gandhi as Literary Journalist in Hind Swaraj .............................................. 35
   Jane L. Chapman, Professor of Communications, University of Lincoln
3. Never Myles from the News: The “Meta-Journalism” of Myles na gCopaleen ................................................................. 47
   Ian Kilroy, Lecturer at the School of Media, Dublin Institute of Technology
4. The Real “Scoop”: Waugh in Abyssinia ....................................................... 61
   Nick Nuttall, author, former Senior Lecturer, Lincoln School of Journalism
5. African American Literary Journalism in the 1950s ..................................... 75
   Roberta S. Maguire, Professor and Chair of English, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh
Contents

6. A Critical Overview of Brazilian Literary Journalism: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow ................................................................. 95
   Mateus Yuri Passos, PhD candidate, State University of Campinas (UNICAMP), Brazil

Section 2. History as Seen by Literary Journalists

7. Literary Journalism on War and Imperialism: The British Annexation of Egypt Viewed by Portuguese Eça de Queirós .................. 111
   Isabel Soares, Assistant Professor, Institute for Social and Political Sciences, University of Lisbon (Universidade de Lisboa)

8. “Certain Americans and an Englishman”: D. H. Lawrence and the American Indians ................................................................. 125
   Nick Nuttall, author, former Senior Lecturer, Lincoln School of Journalism

9. Rajiv Chandrasekaran’s Imperial Life in the Emerald City: Beyond the Court Jester? ................................................................. 139
   Richard Lance Keeble, Professor of Journalism, University of Lincoln

Section 3. Literary Journalism: Is There a Specific Woman’s Voice?

10. Duras, Definitely Duras: Tradition and Innovation in the Literary Journalism of Marguerite D ......................................................... 155
    Marie-Ève Thérenty, Professor in French Literature, University of Montpellier 3 (Translated by Maryline Gagnère and Richard Lance Keeble)

11. Eliane Brum: New Star in Brazil’s Literary Journalism Firmament ............. 171
    Edvaldo Pereira Lima, University of São Paulo, and Monica Martinez, University of Sorocaba, Brazil

12. “Greenwich Village at Night” and Mary McCarthy’s Immersion Journalism ... 183
    Bill Reynolds, Graduate Program Director, Ryerson University, Toronto, Canada

Section 4. Further Explorations in the Journalistic Imagination: The Power of the Story

13. Journalism, Imagination and the Art of Fact: The Work of Geoffrey Moorhouse ................................................................. 201
    John Tulloch, Professor of Journalism, University of Lincoln

    N. Ram, co-biographer of R. K. Narayan and former Editor-in-Chief of The Hindu
CONTENTS | vii

15. New Journalism in Portuguese: From 19th-Century Literary Journalists to the Present Day ................................................................. 235
   Juan Domingues, Professor, Pontifical Catholic University of Rio Grande do Sul, and Alice Trindade, Institute for Social and Political Sciences, University of Lisbon (Universidade de Lisboa)

16. Magic Realism with Bullets: Charles Bowden and Ciudad Juárez .......... 247
   Bill Reynolds, Graduate Program Director, Ryerson University, Toronto, Canada

17. Indian Literary Journalism in the Age of Mobile Phones ..................... 261
   Nalini Rajan, Professor, Asian College of Journalism, Chennai, India

18. “Long-Form Journalism Is Absolutely Not Dead. What Is Dead Is Bad Long-Form” ................................................................. 277
   Susie Eisenhuth, journalism lecturer, University of Technology, Sydney

Afterword ................................................................. 293
   John S. Bak, Professor of American Studies, Université de Lorraine in France

Contributors ................................................................. 297

Index ................................................................. 303