Contents

1 Introduction

1.1 Characteristics of the Water Supply Sector

1.1.1 High Fixed Sunk Costs to Variable Costs

1.1.2 Public Health and Social Welfare Concerns

1.1.3 Local in Supply

1.2 Choices of Strategies in the Water Supply Industry

1.3 Economic Incentives of Water Supply Reforms in China

1.3.1 Water Supply Enterprises Operating at a Loss

1.3.2 Heavy Financing Stress and Low Efficiency

2 Concession Overview and Accountability Gap in China

2.1 Overview of Concessions and the Debate

2.1.1 Conception of Concessions

2.1.2 Debate on Concessions: Efficiency and Costs

2.2 Concessions in China

2.2.1 Policy Development in Water Supply Reforms

2.2.2 Typical Concession Structures

2.2.3 Legal Environments for Concessions

2.2.4 Legal and Policy Frameworks on Concessions

2.3 Accountability Concerns in China’s Concessions

3 Restricted Competition in Concessions and Concessionaire Selections

3.1 Restricted Competition as a Worldwide Phenomenon

3.1.1 Oligopolies and Restricted Competition

3.1.2 Difficulties for New Competitors

3.2 Explanation for Restricted Competition in China

3.2.1 State Control for Market Entry

3.2.2 Traditional Bureaucratic Accountability
3.3 Concessionaire Selections and Criteria
- 3.3.1 Sole Sourcing and Transparency
- 3.3.2 IPPP Concessions
- 3.3.3 Rules for Proper Concessionaire Selections

3.4 Concluding Remarks

4 Water Pricing Regulations in the Context of Concessions
- 4.1 Controversial Returns on Investments
  - 4.1.1 Fixed Rates of Return in Early Projects
  - 4.1.2 Frequent Water Tariff Increase

- 4.2 Discussion on Water Tariff Increase

- 4.3 Alternative Explanation for Financing Constraints
  - 4.3.1 Lack of Financing Capacity
  - 4.3.2 Restrictions on Issuing Municipal Bonds

- 4.4 Why Concessions and the Facade
  - 4.4.1 Economic Analysis
  - 4.4.2 The Case of China

- 4.5 Institutional Framework for Transparency of Water Charging
  - 4.5.1 Water Costs and Transparency
  - 4.5.2 Ensuring More Effective Public Engagement

4.6 Concluding Remarks

5 Concession Contracts and Legal Accountability
- 5.1 Concession Contracts as a Regulatory Strategy
  - 5.1.1 “Regulation by Contract”
  - 5.1.2 “Incomplete Contract”

- 5.2 Legal Accountability in the Era of Concessions
  - 5.2.1 The Applicable Laws for Concession Contracts
  - 5.2.2 Judicial Embarrassment
  - 5.2.3 Reconstructing Concession Contracts as “Economic Contracts”
  - 5.2.4 The Mixing of Rules for Relief in Concession Contracts

5.3 Concluding Remarks

6 Regulatory Agencies and Structures Under Concessions
- 6.1 Regulatory Contract Enforcement Versus Economic Regulators
- 6.2 Water Regulatory Framework Status Quo
- 6.3 Restructuring Water Regulatory Framework
  - 6.3.1 Property Rights Reform Versus Concession Policy
  - 6.3.2 Regulatory Functions and the Proposed Regulator

6.4 Concluding Remarks