CONTENTS

1. APPOACHING NAGA TEXTILES: A BRIEF INTRODUCTION – 9

I. GETTING A PICTURE OF TEXTILE DESIGN

2. Visualising Textiles – 20
   2.1. Ethnographic Drawing as a Topic of Visual Anthropology – 20
   2.2. Visual Media Types and their Usefulness – 24
   2.3. A Concept of a Visual Approach to Data Collection, Analysis and (Re)presentation – 31

4. Characteristics of Ao Textile Design in Detail – 41

II. WEAVING IN HISTORY

5. The Embodiment of Skill and the Transformation of Textile Techniques in History – 54

6. From Fibre to Yarn; from Mythological to Early Colonial Times – 56
   6.1. Raw Fibres – 59
   6.2. Spinning Yarn – 63
   6.3. Dyeing – 71

7. Weaving Technique Surviving Colonialism and the Struggles for Independence – 76
   7.1. Winding the Warp – 85
   7.2. Weaving – 96
   7.3. Finishing the Cloth and Making Applications – 105

   8.1. Market Calculations from Varying Perspectives – 109
III. Reflecting Status and Social Structure

9. The Right to Decoration – 118

10. Shawls for Rich Men Only – 122
   10.1. Feasts of Merit and Mithun Sacrifices – 124
   10.2. The Varieties of Men’s Shawls of Wealth – 126

11. Shawls Not Only for Head-Hunters – 131
   11.1. Head-Hunting – 131
   11.2. The Varieties of Men’s Head-Hunters’ Shawls – 136

12. Loincloths for a Man’s Biography? – 148

13. Textile Accessories for the Beloved – 151

   14.1. The Varieties of Rich Women’s Cloths – 153
   14.2. The Varieties of Poor or Common Women’s Cloths – 158

15. Skirts Indicating a Woman’s Clan – 159
   15.1. Ao Naga Clan Structure – 160
   15.2. Skirts, Clan Structure, and Language Groups on Village Level – 163
   15.3. Typology of Woman’s Clan Skirts – 171

16. The Modular Nature of Ao Naga Textile Design – 179

17. Naga Codes of Appearance – 182
   17.1. Status as a Core Concept of Naga Culture and a Main Code of Appearance – 183
   17.2. Gender as a Basic and Combined Code of Appearance – 190
   17.3. Tribal Identity as a Colonially Constructed Code of Appearance – 195
   17.4. Life Cycle as a Scarcely Reflected Code of Appearance – 197
   17.5. Politics and Religion as Marginal or ‘Missing’ Codes of Appearance – 198

18. A Side-remark on the Meaning Encoded in
Naga Material Culture and Aesthetic Production in General – 201

Colour Pencil Drawings of Traditional Ao Naga Textiles

Ao Naga Men’s Shawls – 204
Ao Naga Men’s Textile Accessories – 214
Ao Naga Women’s Status Cloths – 218
Ao Naga Women’s Clan Skirts – 231
IV. Employing Effects

19. What People do with Textiles, and what Textiles do to People – 262
   19.1. The Effects of 'Agency': Interfering Connotations of Terms – 262
   19.2. Messages, Meanings, Contexts and Effects – 263

20. 'Traditional' Textiles – 265

21. Contemporary Women's 'Design' Skirts and Shawls – 267
   21.1. Design Features of Ao Women's 'Modified Traditional' and 'Design' Textiles – 267
   21.2. The Right Dress for the Right Occasion – 269
   21.3. Private Textile Collections – 271

22. Contemporary Men's 'Design' Shawls and Waistcoats – 273

23. Local Catwalk 'Fusion Fashion' and a Cosmopolitan Outlook – 279
   23.1. Beauty Pageants and Fashion Shows – 279
   23.2. Ao 'Fusion Fashion' and the Role of the Watsü Mungdang – 283
   23.3. A Cosmopolitan Outlook: Atsu Sekhose, Asa Kazingmei, and Imcha Imchen – 298

24. Performing Identity Roles – by Way of a Conclusion – 307

Acknowledgements

Lists and References

Abbreviations – 324
List of Object Collections with Naga Artefacts – 325
Picture Credits / List of Figures – 326

Bibliography

Appendices

A: Mills' Clan-Structure Tested – 344
B: Villages, Clans and Skirts – 347
C: List of Clan Names Tested for Skirt Types – 354
D: List of Skirt Types Tested for Clan Names and Marriage-Groups in a Given Village – 355
E: Non-Textile Ao Naga Ornaments – 357
Design Chart of Naga Textiles – (Enclosed Poster)

Index