Table of Contents

Acknowledgements..................................................................................................................5
Table of Contents .....................................................................................................................7
List of Tables .............................................................................................................................9
List of Figures ...........................................................................................................................11
Introduction ...............................................................................................................................13
Relevance of the topic and objectives of the research .............................................................13
Research plan and design ..........................................................................................................17
1 The Notion of Crisis: Conceptual Framework .........................................................................21
1.1 Company Crisis and its Typical Features ........................................................................21
1.2 Types of Company Crises .................................................................................................32
1.3 The Specifics of Modern Crises .........................................................................................38
1.4 Crisis Stages .......................................................................................................................43
1.5 Crisis Stage and its Features .............................................................................................52
1.6 Outreach and Impact of the Crisis ....................................................................................57
2 Building up a Theoretical Paradigm ......................................................................................71
2.1 General Remarks on the Theory ......................................................................................71
2.2 Overview of the Past Research .........................................................................................74
2.2.1 Theorisation of crisis proneness and chaos theory .....................................................75
2.2.2 Sensemaking theory ....................................................................................................88
2.3 Conclusions on Theoretical Framework ..........................................................................101
Table of Contents

3 Corporate Identity and Stakeholder Perceptions in Crisis

3.1 Corporate Identity and its Role in Crisis

3.1.1 Perspectives on corporate identity: constraints in accessing the concept

3.1.2 Corporate identity and its relation to image and culture

3.1.3 Conclusions on applicability of identity concept

3.2 Crisis Response Strategies ‘in the new light’

3.2.1 What is a strategy and how it is linked to identity?

3.2.2 Approaches to strategy formation: traditional view

3.2.3 Alternative views to strategy formation: Chinese approach

3.2.4 Crisis response strategies

3.3 Stakeholder Theory Applied to Crisis

4 Case Study: Crisis Response Strategies of Toyota

4.1 Methods of Analysis and Data Collection

4.2 Context of Crisis at Toyota

4.3 Verification of Hypothesis 1: Invocation of Corporate Identity

4.3.1 General features and content of crisis response

4.3.2 Manifestation of ‘corporate identity discourse’

4.4 Verification of Hypothesis 2: Crisis Response Strategies

4.5 Verification of Hypothesis 3: Company Audiences

5 Conclusions and Implications for Further Research

Bibliography

Annex 1: Crisis Response Strategies Potentially Used by Organisations

Annex 3: Crisis Response Strategies, by Postures