Contents

Part I Epidemiology: Infections in Patients with Hematologic Malignancies

1. Infections in Patients with Acute Leukemia .................................................. 3
   Kenneth V.I. Rolston

2. Infections in Patients with Malignant Lymphomas ............................................. 25
   Kenneth V.I. Rolston

3. Consequences from Specific Treatment Modalities ............................................. 39
   Georg Maschmeyer

4. Infections After High-Dose Chemotherapy and Autologous Hematopoietic Stem Cell Transplantation ................................................................. 49
   Marcio Nucci and Elias Anaissie

5. Microbiological Background ................................................................. 63
   Murat Akova

Part II Diagnosis

6. The Diagnostic Approach to the Febrile Neutropenic Patient: Clinical Considerations ................................................................. 91
   Eric J. Bow

7. Diagnostic Radiology in Hematological Patients with Febrile Neutropenia ......... 113
   Claus Peter Heussel

8. Risk Stratification in Febrile Neutropenic Patients ........................................... 137
   Marianne Paesmans

Part III Therapeutic Strategies

9. Fever of Unknown Origin: Treatment According to Risk Assessment ................. 155
   Georg Maschmeyer
10 Pulmonary Complications
Georg Maschmeyer

11 Vascular Catheter-Related Infections
Luma Dababneh, William Shomali, and Issam I. Raad

12 Gastrointestinal Complications
Nicole M.A. Blijlevens

13 Central Nervous System Infections
Martin Schmidt-Hieber

Part IV Antimicrobial Treatment (Including Important Pitfalls, Toxicities and Interactions)

14 Antibacterial Agents
Winfried V. Kern

15 Antifungal Agents
George R. Thompson III and Thomas F. Patterson

Part V Infection Prevention

16 Antimicrobial Prophylaxis in Hematology
Corrado Girmenia and Francesco Menichetti

17 Infection Control and Hospital Epidemiology in Hematology Units
Maja Weisser and Andreas Widmer

18 Myeloid Growth Factors
Hartmut Link

Index