Contents

List of Tables ix
Series Editor's Preface xi
Acknowledgements xv

1 Introduction: The Marx–Weber Relationship in Sociological Literature 1

PART I: KARL MARX AND IMAGINING THE ORIENT

2 The Development of Marx’s Vision of the Orient: The Cultural and Social Background 13

3 Discussions on the Asiatic Mode of Production 23

4 Marx’s Sources for Oriental Societies 35

5 Marx’s Study of Oriental Societies 43

6 Marx’s Oriental Mirror 61

PART II: ORIENTAL SOCIETIES IN THE THEORY OF MAX WEBER

7 The Formation of Weber’s Sociology of the Orient and its Reception 69

8 Weber’s Sources on Oriental Societies 85

9 Same Old Differences: Differentiating Between the Orient and the Occident 99

10 Divergences: Religion, Politics and Economics 111

11 Disengagements: Basic Elements of Weber’s Study on Oriental Societies 135

12 Weber’s Occidental Geist: Defining the West by Using the Orient 155