Contents

Introduction: Between Mercury and Jove .......................................................... 11

Part One
Speed: Towards Velocentric Perspective .......................................................... 21

Chapter One
"To Fly like Mercury": Acceleration and Modern Experience .......................... 23

Chapter Two
Streamlined Culture and the Rise of the Mis-man ............................................. 47

Part Two
Slow Time and Alternative Hedonism ............................................................... 73

Chapter Three
"To Sit like Jove": Slowness and Everyday Resistance ....................................... 75

Chapter Four
The Temporality of (Other) Pleasures ............................................................. 99

Part Three
The Other Speed: Cultural Practices and Representations ............................... 123

Chapter Five
New Territoriality in the Age of Deterritorialization ....................................... 125

Chapter Six
Negotiating Mobility: On the Slow Move ....................................................... 149

Chapter Seven
"Relocation, Relocation": Slow Goes Pop ....................................................... 175

Conclusions: Post-Slow? Between Strategies and Props .................................... 203

Bibliography ........................................................................................................ 209