

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface & Acknowledgments	vii
Nora Berning, Ansgar Nünning & Christine Schwanecke Unpacking 'Traveling Concepts' and Introducing the Notion of Reframing, or: How to Work with Concepts and Come to Terms with Conceptual Transfers	1

PART 1: THEORETICAL FRAMEWORKS

Christine Schwanecke The Metaphorical Concept of Reframing: Its History, Challenges and Heuristic Value	37
Nora Berning Reframing Translation and Translation as Reframing	53
Ingo Berensmeyer Reframing Deconstruction in Systems Theory: Niklas Luhmann, Jacques Derrida and the 'Culture of Writing'	75

PART 2: REFRAMING CONCEPTS IN LITERARY STUDIES

Elise Nykänen (Re)Reading (Modernist) 'Fictional Minds' After the Cognitive Turn: Embodied, Social and Emotional Minds in Marja-Liisa Vartio's Novel Tunteet	97
Valentina Ungaro Self-Translation as Rewriting: Reframing the Concept of the Original	115
Beatrice Seligardi Reframing the Concept of Dramatization through Literary Fiction: An Analysis of A. S. Byatt's Still Life	129

PART 3: REFRAMING CONCEPTS FOR THE STUDY OF CULTURE

Ana Fabiola Mauricio

Museological (En)framings and Reframings of Art and Culture:
A Diachronic Analysis of Three Art Museum Models 143

Gül Bilge Han

(Re)Framing the Concept of Aesthetic Autonomy: Frames of Separation and Engagement in Wallace Stevens' "Secret Man" 157

Matti Kangaskoski

Reframing 'Reading' in the 21st Century: From 'Close' to 'Hyper', from 'Distant' to 'Big' 171

PART 4: REFRAMING CONCEPTS FOR THE COGNITIVE STUDY OF CULTURE AND LITERATURE

Peter Hanenberg

Intersecting 'Nature' and 'Culture': How the Study of Culture
Could Enhance Cognitive Science 185

Ana Margarida Abrantes

Reframing the Concept of Mimesis: Literature, Cognition and the Representation of Reality 203