Table of contents

7  Greeting
8  Acknowledgements
11  Foreword | Tobia Bezzola
13  Introduction | Sandra Gianfreda

ESSAYS

21  Japonisme as a transcultural process —
Odano Naotake, Katsushika Hokusai and Vincent Van Gogh
Mae Michiko

29  The presentation, perception and collection of Japanese art in nineteenth-century France
Gregory Irvine

39  The museum as a school of vision —
Karl Ernst Osthaus and Museum Folkwang’s Japanese Collection
Christoph Dorsz

47  Claude Monet, Vincent Van Gogh, Henri Rivière and Auguste Rodin as collectors of Japanese woodblock prints
Geneviève Aitken

59  The early Japonistes
Sandra Gianfreda

69  Japonisme in the works of Van Gogh, Gauguin, Bernard and Anquetin
Belinda Thomson

79  “Discovering new horizons and liberties” —
Japonisme and the decorative arts in France
Claire Guitton

87  The Nabi and East Asian art —
Pierre Bonnard, Maurice Denis, Félix Vallotton and Édouard Vuillard
Ursula Perucchini-Petri

95  More confirmation than inspiration —
Japonisme in French painting of the early twentieth century
Peter Kropmanns
CATALOGUE

104 “Japan in Paris” – Japanese objects in everyday life
Mario-Andreas von Lüttichau

128 Promenades japonaises – artists in Japan
Claire Guitton

138 Of brocades and heroes – variations in Japanese colour woodblock prints
Sabine Bradel

154 The Japanese among us – motifs and series
Mario-Andreas von Lüttichau

182 Japonisme on paper
Ulrike Hofer

200 Japan internalised
Ulrike Hofer

226 Japanese art at Museum Folkwang
Antje Papist-Matsuo

250 Decorative arts in France
Claire Guitton

272 The Nabi and the decorative
Ulrike Hofer

300 “A dream of the farthest east” – Monet’s garden in Giverny
Claire Guitton

316 “Art is never chaste” – Picasso and erotic Japonisme
Ricard Bru

326 And Japan remains with us – a glimpse into the twentieth century
Mario-Andreas von Lüttichau

APPENDIX

334 Notes
346 Chronology
350 Glossary
352 Exhibited works
369 Select bibliography
372 Short biographies of the authors
373 Photo credits and copyrights