Preface: A Case for Emphasizing the “Public” in Public Intellectual IX
Cynthia Gerstl-Pepin and Cynthia Reyes

Section One: Making Academic Language Accessible. 1

Chapter One: Crisscrossing from Classrooms to Cartoons:
Social Science Satire 3
Michael F. Giangreco

Chapter Two: “Languaging Their Lives,” Places of Engagement, and Collaborations with Urban Youth. 17
Valerie Kinloch

Chapter Three: Reframing: We Are Not Public Intellectuals;
We Are Movement Intellectuals 31
Margarita Machado-Casas, Belinda Bustos Flores, and Enrique Murillo, Jr.

Chapter Four: Scholarly Personal Narrative as a Way to Connect the Academy to the World. 39
Robert J. Nash
Section Two: Engaging the Public Through Media and Web 2.0 .......... 53

Chapter Five: When a Public Intellectual Speaks Out
   But No One Hears Her, Does She Exist? ........................................ 55
   Susan Ohanian

Chapter Six: The Naked Seminar: Blogging as Public Education
   Outside the Classroom ................................................................. 71
   Sherman Dorn

Chapter Seven: The Public Intellectual: The Changing Context;
   Implications for Attributes and Practices .................................... 81
   William J. Mathis

Section Three: Personal Dilemmas .................................................. 93

Chapter Eight: Reflections of a “Stunt Intellectual”: Caught in the Crosshairs of “Public” Controversy .................................... 95
   William Ayers

Chapter Nine: Traveling Down a Desire Line: Surviving Where
   Academia and Community Meet .................................................. 109
   JuliAnna Ávila

Chapter Ten: Conversations That Matter: Community-Based Practice in Support of the Public Good ...................................................... 117
   Alan Tinkler and Barri Tinkler

Chapter Eleven: An Inevitable Dichotomy...Really? Harmonizing
   Public Intellectual Work with Academic Work ............................ 127
   Steven Jay Gross

Section Four: Implications ............................................................. 137

Chapter Twelve: Reimagining the Public Intellectual in Education:
   Making Scholarship Matter ......................................................... 139
   Cynthia Reyes and Cynthia Gerstl-Pepin

Author Biographies ........................................................................... 153
Index ................................................................................................. 161