Table of Contents

The Equipment

- The Golf Club
- Types of Golf Clubs
- Terminology
- The Sole of the Golf Club and its Bounce
- The Gear Effect
- Bulge and Roll
- Demonstration: Sweet Spot
- Palm ≈ Leading Edge

Basic Rules

- The Intermediate Target
- Starting Position: The Y
- Clubface Alignment
- Deviations
- Body Angles and Body Weight
- The Ball
- The Correct Ball Position
- 10 Characteristics for Building a Repeatable Golf Swing

Around the Green

- Accurate Putting
- The Putter
- The Putting Technique
- The Putting Grip
The Standard Putting Grip
The Pendulum Swing
Putting – Starting position

Putting Exercises
Dürer “Praying Hands”
Coat Hanger
Right-Left Shoulder Movement
Circle Putting
Putting against a Ball
Putting against a Tee

The Golf Clock
Golf Clock Putt

The Grip
Correct Way to Grip the Golf Club
Placements of the Fingers
The Left Arm
The Y-Shape

Types of Golf Grips
10-finger Grip
Overlapping Grip
Cross-handed Grip

The Body Rotation
Body Rotation: Chip,
Chip-Pitch and Pitch-Pitch
The Correct Rotation
In Brief: Door open - Door closed
Repeatable Golf Swings
The Chip

The Chip Swing
The Chip Chip
Starting Position - the Y-Shape
T-Line
Rituals and Routines
The Correct Arm Position
Check the Y-shape
Alignment of the Golf Club
The Chip Chip in Detail

Special Golf Swings
The Chip Lob
Characteristics of the Chip Lob

The Chip Pitch
The Chip Pitch Lever
Chip and Pitch Technique
Body Angles and Body Weight

The Pitch
Angle of Attack = Angle of Reflection
The Rotation
Ergonomic Rotation
The Pitch Pitch
Body Angles and Body Weight

The Bunker Swing
Ball Position in the Bunker Sand
Body's Centre of Gravity: on Left Foot
Golf Swings out of the Grass
The Fairway

Tee Off and Long Fairway Swings 97
The Tee Off 98
Golf Clock for Long Swings 100

Golf Course and Practice Ground 101
The Golf Course 101

At a Glance 104
10 Characteristic Elements for a Repeatable Golf Swing 104

Index of Illustrations 109