Contents

Foreword: The Holocaust and German Thought on Human Rights .... 7

Author’s Preface .......................................................... 11

1 The ideal and the real surrounding human rights ...................... 13
   1.1 human rights – basic rights – the democratic constitutional state .... 13
   1.2 The state and human rights .................................................. 21
   1.3 The global situation ............................................................. 27
   1.4 On the history of human rights .............................................. 30
   1.5 On justification ................................................................. 45

2 Selected human rights – the ideal and the real .............................. 71
   2.1 The prohibition against torture ............................................. 71
   2.2 Freedom of thought and freedom of conscience .......................... 72
   2.3 Religious freedom and the separation of church and state ............ 74
   2.4 Freedom of the press ........................................................... 75
   2.5 Women’s rights ................................................................. 77
   2.6 Children’s rights ............................................................... 80
   2.7 The rights of people with disabilities ..................................... 82

3 For follow-up: tips for the individual ......................................... 85
   3.1 How can I become involved? ................................................. 85
   3.2 Reports – Literature – Websites ............................................ 86