Acknowlegdments ........................................... vii

Introduction: Youth Histories Lost and Found ......................... 1
Christine Feldman-Barrett

Part One: Leisure and Lifestyle

Chapter One: “My Unsocial Habit”: Reading and Emergent Youth Subcultures in Civil War America ................. 17
Ronald J. Zboray and Mary Saracino Zboray

Chapter Two: Beijing Youth Fashions from Red Guards to Paul Clark

Chapter Three: “Fade to Grey”: The Forgotten History of the British New Romantic Movement .......................... 51
Andy Bennett

Chapter Four: Searching for Greenland’s Youth Culture
Before the Internet Age .......................................... 65
Jette Rygaard
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Part Two: Identity and Community

Chapter Five: Lost Province of German Youth: Remembering East Prussia's Last Generation .................................................. 87
Christine Feldman-Barrett

Chapter Six: “I Turn into a Pink Dolphin”: Apurinā Youth, Awiri, and Encounters with the Unseen .................................................. 105
Pirjo Kristiina Virtanen

Chapter Seven: Queering Tehran: Discovering Gay Rap in Iran ................. 123
Elham Golpush-Nezhad

Chapter Eight: Youth, Athletics, and the Construction of Kalenjin Identities in Postcolonial Kenya .............................................. 141
Godwin Siundu

Part Three: Politics and Nation

Chapter Nine: The “Young Canada” Project: Youth and Nation-Building from 1867 to 1900 ................................................................. 161
Cynthia R. Comacchio

Chapter Ten: The Nikkeijin Underground in Japanese Extreme Metal ........ 179
Rosemary Overell

Chapter Eleven: Emergent Youth Culture in 19th-Century India: A View from Colonial Bengal ............................................................. 199
Swapna M. Banerjee

Chapter Twelve: Divergences and Divisions in Contemporary Spain’s Political Youth Activism ......................................................... 217
Jordi Nofre, José Sánchez García, and Carles Feixa

About the Authors ........................................................................... 237
Index ............................................................................................... 241