Contents

Foreword by Anders Lindseth .................................................. 1

Prologue: Think Different. On the Purpose and Use of this Handbook .......................................................... 3

I Philosophical Counseling ................................................. 9

Morten Fastvold (Norway) .................................................. 11
The Art of Questioning .......................................................... 11

Michael Niehaus (Germany) .................................................. 19
Philosophy as a Way of Life. Exercises in Self-Care ................. 19

Detlef Staude (Switzerland) .................................................. 35
The Path of Consideration. Philosophical Practice in Dialogic Life Accompaniment .................................................. 35

Anders Lindseth (Norway) .................................................. 45
Being Ill as an Inevitable Life Topic. Possibilities of Philosophical Practice in Health Care and Psychotherapy .................. 45

Aleksandar Fatić (Serbia) .................................................. 67
Tasks for Dreaming. The Somatic Cognition of Emotions in Moral Judgment .......................................................... 67

Constantinos Athanasopoulos (Greece) ................................ 83
Anger. Aristotle in Practice .................................................. 83

Ina Paul-Horn (Austria) .................................................. 89
Ethics of Ideas. Facing the Risk of a Conversation with an Open Result .......................................................... 89
Lydia Amir (Israel)
The Tragic Sense of the Good Life 97

II Philosophy for Children 129

Peter Worley (United Kingdom)
If it, Anchor it, Open it Up. A closed, guided questioning technique 131

Audrey Gers (France)
What to Do? A Workshop about Ethics in School Classes 151

Luisa de Paula (Italy)
Sophistic Match. A Philosophical Game about Happiness 155

Luisa de Paula (Italy)
In the Wake of Descartes’ Provisional Moral Code. An Exercise in Philosophical Biography 163

Zoran Kojcic (Croatia)
Mobile Philosophy. The Use of Mobile Technology in Teaching Philosophy and Ethics 173

Else Werring (Norway)
The Virtue of Tolerance. A Dialogue Exercise 181

III Philosophical Walks 189

Peter Harteloh (The Netherlands)
It is better to Travel than to Arrive. A Philosophical Walk as a Socratic Exercise 191

Sigurd Ohrem (Norway)
A Cockerel for Asclepius. A Philosophical Stroll in the Footsteps of Socrates 205

IV Socratic Dialogue Methods 215

Finn Thorbjørn Hansen (Denmark)
The Call and Practices of Wonder. How to evoke a Socratic Community of Wonder in Professional Settings 217
Helge Svare (Norway)
Finding Core Values in Company Narratives 245

Larissa Krainer & Peter Heintel (Austria)
Process-Ethics 251

Camilla Angeltun (Norway)
What is Courage? The Socratic World Café Method 261

Jeanette Bresson Ladegaard Knox (Denmark)
“Tell Me, What is it You Plan to Do with Your One Wild and Precious Life?” Socratic Dialogue in a Dramatic Setting 269

Lucie Antoniol (Belgium)
A Socratic Dialogue in Six Stages. Around the Question “Should Everything Be Said?” 283

Viktoriia Chernenko (Russia)
The Point of No Return. Problematization as a Philosophical Exercise 287

Tulsa Jansson (Sweden)
Identity – A Dialogue Problematizing Who We Are. Theory and Practical Tips on how to Philosophize in Groups 293

Jens Oscar Jenssen (Norway)
The STL-Method. A Socratic Approach to Inter-faith Dialogue 303

Pia Houni (Finland)
How Socratic Dialogue Encourages People to Talk? A Dialogue Example about Friendship (filia) 311

V Philo Cafés 323

Are Seljevold (Norway)
Our Agora. How Should We Approach our Agora as Philosophical Practitioners? 325

Lisz Hirn (Austria)
Dialogue and Social Empowerment. The Dialogkreis-Method 343

Antonio Sandu (Romania)
In Digital Pursuit of Happiness. Appreciative Ethics and Virtual Philosophical Café 349
VI Contemplative Philosophical Practices

Ran Lahav (USA)
Contemplative Philosophy and Philosophical Practice

José Barrientos-Rastrojo (Spain)
An Experience Workshop with Groups. Theory and practice

Maria João Neves (Portugal)
Philosophical Practice Exercises of the RVP© Method. Poetical
Raciovitalism

Ida HeleneHenriksen (Norway)
Mindful Listening. Embodied attention in the meeting with others

Michael Noah Weiss (Austria)
Daimonion. Guided Imagery as a Tool for Philosophical Practice

Epilogue: A Global Ethic and Philosophical Practice. Towards a Professional Ethics for Philosophical Practitioners

List of Authors