

Contents

Introduction	1
1. Kierkegaard and Love.	1
2. Definition of Key Terms	2
3. Methodology	3
4. Feminism and Kierkegaard	4
5. Description of Chapters	7
Chapter 1: The Problems of Self-Sacrifice: Womanist and Feminist Theological Perspectives.	10
1. Condone Abuse and Justifies Violence	11
2. Necrophilia and Denial of the Female Body.	16
3. Targets the Oppressed and Reifies Patriarchal Relations	24
4. Engenders Failure to be Self-Realizing, Self-Defining, and Self-Naming.	29
5. Conclusion	36
Chapter 2: Selflessness as Sin: Daly, Nietzsche, and Kierkegaard.	40
1. Mary Daly	40
2. Friedrich Nietzsche	49
3. Søren Kierkegaard	59
4. Conclusion	70

Chapter 3: Love and Trembling	71
1. Immanuel Kant on the Binding of Isaac	72
2. Kierkegaard on the Binding	77
3. Freedom	85
4. Love and Trembling	89
a) Attunement	91
b) Love as Solid Food	100
c) Abraham's Trusting Love Protects against Deception	105
d) Absolute Duty to God	108
e) Doubt Affords a Test	110
5. Conclusion	114
Chapter 4: Envisioning Love: Freedom, Risk, and Right Relationship	115
1. Introduction	115
2. Kierkegaard on Christ	116
3. Following Christ	121
4. Picturing Risk: Kierkegaard and Ethical Vision	124
5. Womanist Thought and Feminist Ethics of Risk	129
6. Abraham Re-envisioned or, Risk and Trembling	136
7. The Woman who Loved Much	141
8. Kierkegaard on Love and Agency	147
9. Conclusion	148
Chapter 5: Works of Love in a World of Violence: Kierkegaard, Feminism, and the Limits of Self-sacrifice	150
1. Feminist Critiques of Self-sacrifice	151
2. Kierkegaard and Works of Love	153
3. A Self-Love	157

4. Feminist Ethics and Kierkegaard's Ethic of Love	161
5. Works of Love in a World of Violence	164
a) Redoubling.	165
b) Double Danger.	166
6. Winning the One Overcome	170
7. Conclusion	172
Conclusion: Love's Becoming: Self-Love and the Atonement of Christ.	174
Acknowledgments.	188
Bibliography.	189
Index	201