

Contents

Foreword by Dragan Marušič	vii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	x
Part I What Have We Achieved So Far?	1
Chapter 1 Translating Research Into Practice: The Quantitative Perspective Enrique Baca-García and Victoria de Leon-Martínez	3
Chapter 2 Translating Research Into Practice: The Qualitative Perspective Heidi Hjelmeland	13
Part II Interventions	39
Chapter 3 Exploring the Phenomenology of Suicide. Maurizio Pompili	41
Chapter 4 Assessing the Effectiveness of Suicide Prevention Programmes: Integrating Outcome and Process Evaluation. Ella Arensman	57
Chapter 5 The European Alliance Against Depression: Optimised Care of Depressed Patients and Prevention of Suicidal Behaviour via Community-Based Four-Level Interventions Ulrich Hegerl, Ella Arensman, Chantal Van Audenhove, Tomas Baader, Ricardo Gusmão, Andrés Heerlein, Ines Heinz, Angela Ibelshäuser, Victor Perez, Roger Pycha, Janine Quittschalle, András Szekely, and Airi Värnik	65
Chapter 6 Suicide Prevention in Youths Merike Sisask	73
Chapter 7 Suicide in Old Age. Diego De Leo	85
Chapter 8 Suicide Prevention and Older People: Clinical Management Diego De Leo	101

Part III	Postvention	113
Chapter 9	Suicide Survivors Across Cultures	115
	Onja T. Grad
Chapter 10	Bereaved by Suicide – Evidence-Based Findings	121
	Annette Erlangsen
Chapter 11	Suicide Survivors’ Reintegration: The Growing Flower Model	129
	Vita Poštuvan
Part IV	Future	139
Chapter 12	Future Directions in Suicide Research and Prevention.	141
	Diego De Leo
Contributors	157