

Contents

	Acknowledgements	VII
SABINE KUBISCH, UTE RUMMEL	Introduction	1
JAN ASSMANN	Der Platz der ramessidischen Theologie in der religiösen Evolution	3
TAMÁS A. BÁCS	Tombs and their owners Art and identity in late Ramesside Thebes	15
CAMILLA DI BIASE-DYSON	The figurative network Tracking the use of metaphorical language for "hot" and "cold" in Ramesside literary texts	33
PETER J. BRAND	Patterns of innovation in the monumental art of Ramesside Thebes The example of the Great Hypostyle Hall of Karnak	45
KATHLYN M. COONEY	The end of the New Kingdom in Egypt How ancient Egyptian funerary materials can help us understand society in crisis	63
CHRISTOPHER EYRE	The accessibility of Ramesside narrative	89
IRENE FORSTNER-MÜLLER	Centre and periphery Some remarks on the Delta and its borders during the Ramesside Period	103
HENNING FRANZMEIER, JAN MOJE	The missing dead? On the question of the burial grounds of Pi-Ramesse	113
PIERRE GRANDET	The 'chapter on hierarchy' in Amenope's onomasticon (# 67–125)	127
BEN HARING	Writing, marks and pseudo-script in the Ramesside necropolis workmen's community	139
EVA HOFMANN	Der Vorhof der Privatgräber – nur ein sakraler Ort? Die Anlagen von TT 157 des Nebwenenef und TT 183 des Nebsumenu	149
DAN'EL KAHN	Ramesses III and the northern Levant A reassessment of the sources	175
SABINE KUBISCH	The religious and political role of the High Priests of Amun	189
MARIA MICHELA LUISELLI	The lived religion of children in Ramesside Egypt	205
SUSANNE MICHELS	"Does not the potter have power over the clay?" Some thoughts on the Ramesside perception of pottery	217
GREGOR NEUNERT	Re-/Constructing Ramesside society? Arguing in favour of a network of micro-worlds	227
MAARTEN J. RAVEN	The Saqqara necropolis in the Ramesside Period Between tradition and innovation	239
UTE RUMMEL	Ritual space and symbol of power Monumental tomb architecture in Thebes at the end of the New Kingdom	249
	Appendix	277