- 4. Correct spelling and orthography is subject of a constant fight between me and my computer – AND THE SOFTWARE in use – and normally the other side is the winning party!

ENGLISH SHORT PREFACE

- „Paul Smith“ is a FAKE-IDENTITY behind which very probably is a COLLECTIVE of writers and researchers, using a more RATIONAL and SOBER approach towards the complex of Rennes-le-Chateau and to related complex of „Priory of Sion“ (Priore de Sion of Pierre Plantard, Gerard de Sede, Philippe de Cherisey, Jean-Luc Chaumeil and others).
- Emails to info@priory-of-sion.com will result in answers with prefabricated text by not existing „Paul Smith“ or by a webmaster.
- Search for PERSONAL INFORMATIONS of PERSONAL COPYRIGHT HOLDERS FAILED TOTALLY:
 - page-information delivered „no information on page owner“ and no SSL and https,
 - head-section of html-sourcecode with NO personal informations at all and only very few of expected other metatags.
 - whois-inquiry delivered answer „melbourneit“, which is an IT-company and domain-name-registrar in AUSTRALIA – and not as expected in Britain.
- Next step of research led to the REAL SOLUTION:
 „Melbourne-IT“ is a foundation of University of Melbourne, Australia and has an own wikipedia article under URL https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Melbourne_IT

Well, IF there is NO copyright-holder BEYOND doubt, I then felt free to TRANSFORM a WEBPROJECT with 2 bibliographies from html to PRINTREADY-PDF for PAPER-OUTPUT,
 - CONDENSING „Bibliography Priore of Sion and Rennes-le-Chateau“ - actual URL <http://www.priory-of-sion.com/biblios/pos/prioryofsionbibliography.html> – from 187 pages in first test to finally 100 pages Din A4 in pdf, published as paper-edition with dataCD
 - CONDENSING „Bibliography of Occult and Fantastic Beliefs“ - actual URL <http://www.priory-of-sion.com/biblios/occultbibliography.html> – from first test with 3000 pages and 500 MB to finally 1000 p. Din A4 splitted into 4 volumes in pdf with 6 MB only. published as dataCD.

We may say, that such my interest as EDITOR was restricted to more continental European conventions intended for smooth working in library surroundings of learning and study.

Though copyrights are not clear beyond doubt, if at all existing, we cautiously RESTRICT this bibliographical survey to PRIVATE USE and STUDY ONLY and FREE OF CHARGE to everybody, which will be welcomed especially in all those countries, where students have REAL TROUBLE to PAY for books and research materials!

The Melbourne-University has the following MOTTO, URL https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/University_of_Melbourne:

„Motto: Postera Crescam Laude

Motto in English: "May I grow in the esteem of future generations"

It therefor seems appropriate, that this little work is presented in special to:
 Library (of University of Melbourne), URL <http://library.unimelb.edu.au/>
 email 1: orders-library@unimelb.edu.au
 email 2 general: library-feedback@unimelb.edu.au

This little bibliographical work is for cataloguing in the German National Library of course – and will be at least notified to BNF (Bibliothèque National de France).

Otherwise it is assumed here, that I am free to fetch for my learning and studies, whatever seems suitable, even if we perhaps should stress the point, that in my upcoming bookproject on Rennes-le-Chateau, there will not occur any need for any magic or occult, which means technically, to attach to lots of INSCRIPTIONS there the proper SOURCEBOOKS from ROMAN-CATHOLIC literature, so that the REST-QUESTION is, WHY other authors normally do NOT REFER sufficiently to those Roman-Catholic sources - including for instance quite CONVENTIONAL ICONOGRAPHY derived from quite conventional HAGIOGRAPHY.

Such the only scientific problem for me was the question, whether it would be possible, to decide from working at desk at home, whether there might be in Rennes-le-Chateau church the POSSIBILITY, that „someone“ at „some point in time“ - say for instance somewhere between 1953-1970 – might have applied there BONBON-COLOURS from Barbie-puppets or from Walt-Disney-Studios indicative for a TODAY“bonbon-colour Christianity“, that would please especially old-aged folks in Florida or California – or other folks uneducated enough, but wealthy enough as well, to PAY for such COLOURS, that FEW others may even ALIENATE!!

Even if we in these modern times, where they seem to have nearly everything forgotten from Aristotle, Plato and the Library of Alexandria, not any longer agree about, what science is, can be or should be, the public perhaps would welcome my decision, NOT to COMMENT on the bibliographies presented here ITSELF, such paving way for the user, to MAKE HIS OWN ADVENTURE TRIP to the books – and, who knows, perhaps even to KNOWLEDGE, if not EDUCATION!

At least we perhaps can separate the scientists from the criminals like Pierre Plantard and his „fraudulent invention“ of the so-called „Priore de Sion“, CLAIMING DESCENDANCE from MEROWINGIAN ROYAL FAMILY, which really seems exaggerating things and completely out of any reasonable proportion regarding TODAY POLITICS – and perhaps BUSINESS!

We thus even may go as far, as to try to conclude here: The TOURIST industry very well might invite to the PILGRIMAGE TO St. Mary of LOURDES as the MAIN EVENT, which may be followed by a short stop at nearby Rennes-le-Chateau. But it would be WASTE of TIME, to try to make Rennes-le-Chateau the MAIN TOURIST OCCASION instead – which indeed is covered by STATISTICAL FIGURES regarding numbers of visitors, especially if analyzing the DECLINE of „European BATHING tourism“ to BIARRITZ and to Rennes-les-Bains, that occurred since the end of the 19th century, where it was quite „en vogue“!

GERMAN PREFACE

Die folgenden Editionen von zwei Bibliographien zum Komplex „Rennes-le-Chateau“ eines undercover-pseudonyms „Paul Smith“ (oder Frau Müller) befinden sich auf einer Webdomain, die für eine Internet-Firma registriert ist, welche der UNIVERSITÄT MELBOURNE AUSTRALIEN GEHÖRT. Beide Buike-Editionen werden deshalb kostenlos der Universitätsbibliothek Melbourne zur Verfügung gestellt.

Das folgende Vorwort hat den Zweck

- erstens meine BEARBEITUNGSPRINZIPIEN kurz darzulegen
- und zweitens meine UMFANGREICHEN ERMITTLUNGEN zu dokumentieren, die schließlich zwar nicht zur Feststellung von INDIVIDUELLEN PERSONEN-IDENTITÄEN von AUTOREN führten, jedoch zur Offenlegung von „vested interests“ eines „institutionellen Anlegers“,
- drittens aber eine ARGUMENTATION vorzulegen, warum eine BUIKE-EDITION einmal JURISTISCH in ORDNUNG ist und dann auch im Sinne von „open access science“ sogar wünschenswert, sofern nämlich der vorliegende QUALITÄTSLEVEL konstatiert werden konnte.

Ich stelle diese Arbeit insbesondere UNTER DAS EPIGRAMMATISCHE MOTTO DER UNIVERSITÄT OF MELBOURNE, wie es in Wikipedia, Artikel „University of Melbourne“, URL https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/University_of_Melbourne veröffentlicht ist, wo wir lesen:

„Motto: Postera Crescam Laude

Motto in English: "May I grow in the esteem of future generations"

Was auf Deutsch ungefähr besagt:

Möge ich wachsen in der Wertschätzung künftiger Generationen!

ADRESSAT dieser Arbeit ist also ZUERST:

Im Rahmen der Studien zu meinem nächsten Buchprojekt mit dem Arbeitstitel „Rennes-le-Chateau. Fakten und Fiktionen“ stieß ich auf ein großes Webprojekt unter URL <http://priory-of-sion.com>, welches sich selbst mit dem Adjektiv „RATIONAL“ schmückt.

In diesem Web-Projekt fand ich ETLICHE wirklich HILFREICHE historische Dokumente und auch die folgenden zwei Bibliographien, die beide SCHWÄCHEN und VORZÜGE haben, aber insgesamt doch derartig BRAUCHBAR sind, daß ich mich zu zweierlei entschloß:

Diese beiden Bibliographien aus dem Webprojekt <http://priory-of-sion.com> unter dem Pseudonym „Paul Smith“ werden erstens aufgenommen auf eine DatenCD zu meinem obigen Buch-Projekt und zweitens von mir BEARBEITET und HERAUSGEGEBEN als EIGENSTÄNDIGE Publikationen, und zwar unter MEINEM HERAUSGEBERNAMEN. Ich habe mir also die Aufgabe gestellt, zwei WEB-PROJEKTE UMZUWANDELN in PAPIER-Editionen, die speziell für wissenschaftliche Umgebungen in Bibliotheken brauchbar sein sollen. Ein kleiner Schriftwechsel zu dieser Idee mit info@priory-of-sion.com endete allerdings damit, daß ein „Webmaster“ titulierter Schreiber „no permission“ schrieb, und zwar OBWOHL ich bereits eine TEST-Version meiner Edition kostenlos zur Verfügung gestellt hatte.

Es geht also um die EDITION von ZWEI Bibliographien unter dem Pseudonym „Paul Smith“ aus dem Web-Projekt <http://priory-of-sion.com>, deren AUTOREN UNBEKANNT sind und SEIN WOLLEN, die ich lediglich als EDITOR BEARBEITET habe.

Im Falle der „Bibliography Prieure of Sion and Rennes-le-Chateau“ - aktuelle URL <http://www.priory-of-sion.com/biblios/pos/prioryofsionbibliography.html> – habe ich originale 187 Seiten eines von html- in ein Officeformat umgeandelten Projektes auf ungefähr 100 Seiten Din A 4 mit ungefähr 1300 Titeleinträgen komprimiert und zwar indem ich kontinentaleuropäische Konventionen angewendet habe.

Im Falle der „Bibliography of Occult and Fantastic Beliefs“ - aktuelle URL <http://www.priory-of-sion.com/biblios/occultbibliography.html> – ebenfalls unter Pseudonym „Paul Smith“ handelt es sich um ca. 21.000 Titeleinträge, welche bei einem ersten Konvertierungs-Test über 3000 Seiten mit einer Dateigröße von 500 MB ergaben, die ich auf ungefähr 1000 Seiten Din A4 in vier Teilbänden komprimiert habe.

Es wurde ein REDUNDANTER Web-Seiten Anfangs und Endtext ENTFERNT hauptsächlich fr die NAVIGATION in einem Webprojekt entfernt, welcher lautete:

[„Priory of Sion Bibliography

Ich werde jetzt INFORMATIONEN zusmmenstellen – und zwar OHNE EINSATZ von GEHEIMDIENSTLICHEN METHODEN -, aus denen hervorgeht, daß MÖGLICHE ERSTRECHTE-INHABER NICHT ERMITTELBAR sind. Allerdings würde auch von einem auffindbaren Rechteinhaber MEIN Copyright an MEINEN BEARBEITUNGEN und MEINEN DATEIEN nicht tangiert werden, sofern folgende Bedingungen erfüllt sind:

- KOSTENLOSE Dateien zum PRIVATGEBRAUCH und PRIVATSTUDIUM,
- KEINE GEWERBLICHE VERBREITUNG.

---XXX---

Auf den – in den letzte Jahren WECHSELNDEN - Internetseiten der „Bibliography of Occult and Fantastic Beliefs“ befindet sich an der Stelle, wo man gewöhnlich den AUTORENNAMEN erwartet, der Name „Paul Smith“, was zunächst einmal ungefähr soviel besagt wie „Frau Müller“, also ABSICHTLICH NICHTSSAGEND GEWÄHLT sein KÖNNTE: Ich vertrete aber die VERMUTUNG, daß FAKTISCH ein AUTOREN-KOLLEKTIV beteiligt war, das sich hinter dem PSEUDONYM „Paul Smith“ lediglich VERSTECKT - aus welchen – hoffentlich ehrenhaften - GRÜNDEN auch immer!

---XXX---

Ich unterlasse es hier, Belegstellen aus dem Internet (und Internet-Foren) zu bringen, die “Paul Smith” ebenfalls für eine FAKE-IDENTITY halten und liefere stattdessen jetzt BELEGE meiner erweiterten IDENTITÄTSPRÜFUNG mit Hilfe OFFENER INTENTMETHODEN.

Wenn ich also die Web-Seite mit dem FUNDORT dieser Bibliographie mit Hilfe irgendeines Browsers aufgesucht habe, kann ich über Rechtsclick mit der Maus einen Punkt “Seiteninformationen” aufrufen, der mir folgende ERGEBNISSE lieferte, und zwar für die HAUPTADRESSE des Projektes URL <http://priory-of-sion.com> . Ich bringe dazu ZWEI Abbildungen von ZWEI Registerkarten des Menüs “Seiteninformationen”.

Hier finden wir insbesondere folgenden Vermerk:

“ Diese Website stellt keine Informationen über den Besitzer zu(r Verfügung).”

Ich halte einen zweiten Vermerk für wichtig:

“Die Website priory-of-sion unterstützt keine Verschlüsselung für die Seite, die Sie ansehen.”

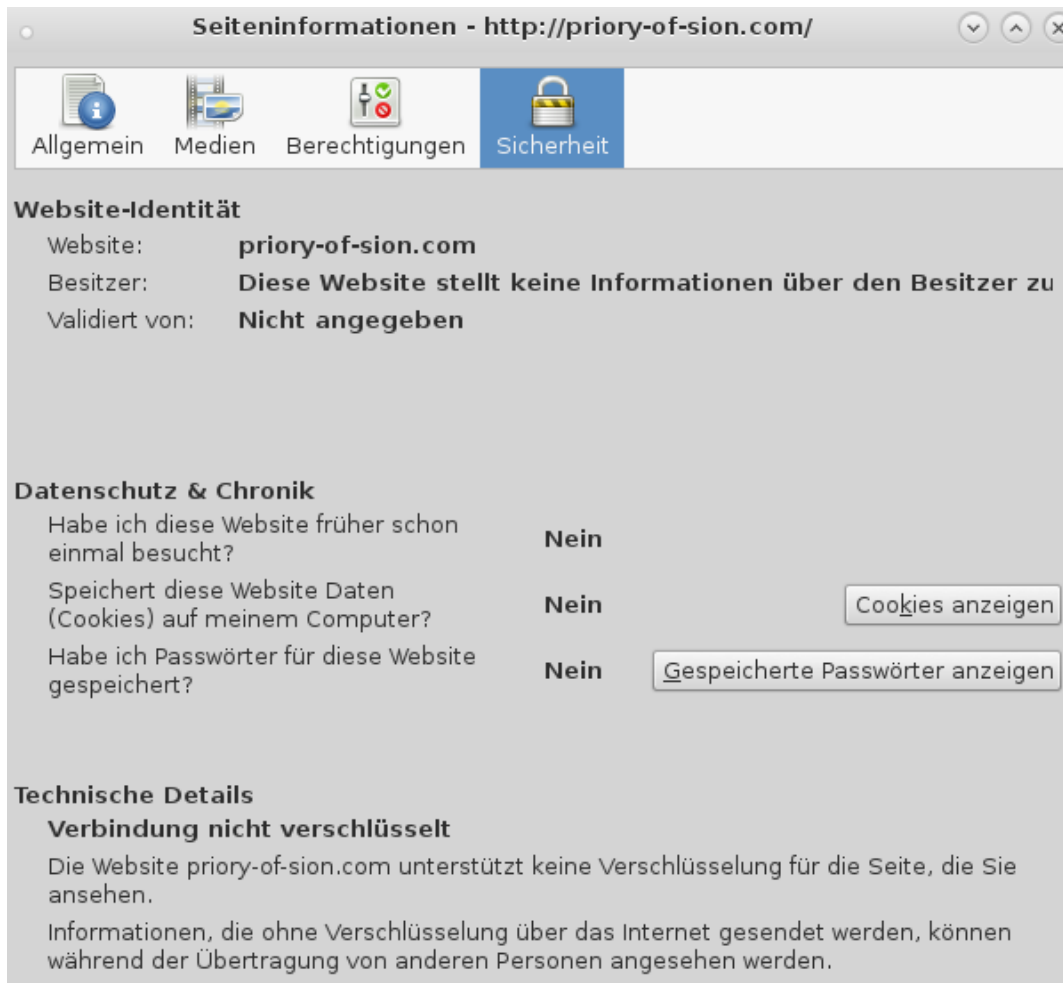

Dies bedeutet technisch: SSL wird nicht angewendet und https FUNKTIONIERT nicht! Oder anders gesagt: Wer auch immer hinter diesem Webprojekt steckt, verwendet eine STANDARD-SCHUTZMETHODE für Datenübertragung im Internet NICHT – aus welchen Gründen auch immer.

The screenshot shows a browser window titled "Seiteninformationen - http://priory-of-sion.com/". The window has a navigation bar with icons for "Allgemein", "Medien", "Berechtigungen", and "Sicherheit". Below this, the page information is displayed:

Below this, there is a section for "Meta (3 Schlagwörter)" which contains a table:

Jetzt prüfte ich eine ZWEITE Möglichkeit, wo sich NORMALERWEISE HINWEISE AUF PERSONEN-IDENTITÄTEN befinden, nämlich den html-sourcecode, und dort die META-TAGS in der Sektion „head“. Das Ergebnis sieht wie folgt aus und VERBLÜFFT, weil sich dort ÜBERHAUPT KEINE METATAGS mit PERSONEN-INFORMATIONEN befinden, und weil die Anzahl ANDERER und erwartbarer Metatags ÜBERRASCHEND KLEIN ist. Es wurde aber GANZ AM ENDE der html-page ein TRACKING-SCRIPT festgestellt, das jedoch NICHT zu den bekannten großen Internet-Firmen gehört.

Our customers range from small businesses to Fortune 500 companies and internationally recognised government organisations. Melbourne IT is listed on the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX) under the stock ticker MLB.“

Jetzt bin ich PLATT, denn ich hatte ERWARTET, daß die Website „priory-of-sion.com“ in Großbritannien sitzt, aber NICHT, daß sie tatsächlich in AUSTRALIEN sitzt.

Auch ist Der DASEINS- und GESCHÄFTSZWECK der „melbourne-it“

ÜBERRASCHENDERWEISE KEIN WISSENSCHAFTLICHER, sondern es handelt sich um eine Firma, die Internet-HOSTING anbietet.

Des Rätsels Lösung könnte allerdings in einer Auskunft des Wikipedia-Artikels zur „melbourne-it“ - URL https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Melbourne_IT - gleich sein, wo wir lesen, daß die UNIVERSITÄT VON MELBOURNE / Australien an der GRÜNDUNG beteiligt war und sogar – zumindest zeitweise – EIGENTÜMER war:

„Melbourne IT's history dates back to April 1996 when Eugene Falk AM OBE and Professor Peter Gerrand [7] were appointed as Chairman and CEO, respectively, for the University of Melbourne's new commercial subsidiary Melbourne Information Technology International Pty Ltd, which commenced operations from 1 May 1996. Professor Iain Morrison[8] was appointed the third foundation director of the company. The company chose to trade under the business name of Melbourne IT from its earliest days.“

Rein zufällig gibt es über die „melbourne-it“ einen SEHENSWERTEN eigenen Wikipedia-Artikel unter URL https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Melbourne_IT , den ich dem Publikum keineswegs vorenthalten möchte, wo wir folgende DRUCKVERSION haben:

Melbourne IT is an Australian Internet company listed on the Australian Securities Exchange (ASX: MLB). Formed in 1996, its primary business is domain name registration in most of the major national and global top-level domains. It also offers web and email hosting services and online marketing services.

The company is a profit-earning medium-sized (in the Australian context) Internet business, with 2004 earnings of approximately 4.5 million AUD (EBIT) on revenues of about 60 million AUD, and continues to grow steadily. It has operations in several European countries through the acquisition of Cogent,[\[1\]](#) as well as IDR Management Services,[\[2\]](#) based in London. Melbourne IT currently operates four main global offices.[\[3\]](#)

For historical reasons (outlined below) Melbourne IT had a de facto monopoly on com.au domain name registrations for several years, providing more than half of its revenues until April 1999 when ICANN awarded it one of the first five registrar licences to compete with Network Solutions Inc in registering domain names under .com, .net and .org.[\[4\]](#) From December 1999, when Melbourne IT listed on the ASX, the registration of international domain names has dominated its revenues.

Internationally, as an ICANN-accredited registrar, Melbourne IT is ranked around fifth in the world, making the company the largest Australian domain name registrar.[\[5\]](#)

The company has attempted to diversify its revenue sources to reduce its dependence on domain names, introducing managed hosting products and consulting services. In 2006, Melbourne IT acquired WebCentral, Australia's largest web hosting company. In 2008, Melbourne IT acquired Verisign DBMS for US$50m.[\[6\]](#)

History

Melbourne IT's history dates back to April 1996 when Eugene Falk AM OBE and Professor Peter Gerrand [\[7\]](#) were appointed as Chairman and CEO, respectively, for the University of Melbourne's new commercial subsidiary Melbourne Information Technology International Pty Ltd, which commenced operations from 1 May 1996. Professor Iain Morrison[\[8\]](#) was appointed the third foundation director of the company. The company chose to trade under the business name of Melbourne IT from its earliest days.

Contrary to popular mythology, the company was not set up to trade in domain names. The company's charter was to demonstrate the University's strategic leadership in working with industry and government in selected areas of IT. Its first and continuingly profitable business, up until its float on the ASX in December 1999, was its joint venture ASAC (Advanced Services Applications Centre) with Ericsson Australia. ASAC was set up to develop applications with synergies between the Internet and advanced telecommunications, particularly mobile products. ASAC was recognized by Ericsson as one of its Global Design Centres in 1997, and contributed $0.5 million in profit to Melbourne IT in the year before its float. ASAC was incorporated as an independent joint venture in December 2000, but became a casualty of Ericsson's downsizing of its global R&D following the bursting of the Dot-com bubble in July 2000. On 21 June 1996 a front-page article in The Australian Financial Review by Charles Wright drew attention to the parlous state of commercial domain name registration in Australia, where a large backlog of Australian businesses were waiting for processing of their applications for com.au domain names by the part-time domain name administrator, Robert Elz, senior system administrator in the University of Melbourne's Computer Science Department, who declined to communicate with the media.

Robert Elz had been assigned the role of administrator of the .au top-level domain by Jon Postel since 1989, an arrangement that worked quite satisfactorily through the early 1990s when the Internet was largely of interest only to tertiary educational and research institutions. The AFR article caused Melbourne University to be aware of the possible commercial value of the rights to assign domain names, but also of the damage to the University's reputation if the registration of com.au domain names was not transferred to a competent commercial organization. The Head of the Computer Science Department persuaded Mr Elz to transfer the administration of com.au names to the University's subsidiary Melbourne IT, which he did by way of a non-exclusive licence, to be reviewed after five years. Melbourne IT was awarded a grant of $100,000 by the Government of Victoria in 1996 in return for registering the backlog of over 2,000 com.au applications free to the applicants, and used this money to build its first domain name registration software platform. From October 1996 Melbourne IT began pricing its services by charging for new and renewed com.au names at 10% below the market rate set by Network Solutions for the popular .com names, and was the first domain name registrar worldwide to introduce trademark checking and money-back service assurance guarantees.^[4] It also introduced three-tiered pricing for different levels of turnaround time, during the first two years 1997-98 before eligibility decisions were sped up by online access to the Australian trademarks database and to registries of Australian business names and gazetted geographical names. Melbourne IT also moved to align to Robert Elz's rather idiosyncratic eligibility criteria (e.g., 'no name should in principle be registered if found in an English dictionary'; but exceptions had been made to this before 1996 such as news.com.au and travel.com.au, which annoyed other applicants to the rules for registering business names in Australia).

In April 1999 Melbourne IT was selected by ICANN to be one of the first five registrars to register .com, .net and .org names in competition with the incumbent Network Solutions. Entry into the international domain name market from July 1999 greatly increased the company's revenues and market value, and caused the University to prepare the company for an Initial Public Offering. On 14 December 1999 Melbourne IT was floated on the ASX, near the height of the dot-com bubble.

It benefited from a cover story by finance journalist Ivor Rees in a weekend edition of the Australian Financial Review in November 1999, describing it presciently as the 'Hottest Float of the Year'. Interest in the shares was particularly strong because it was the only Australian tech stock floating that year with a track record of actual profitability. Demands for a prospectus were so high that complaints were aired in the media by members of the public unable to obtain one. The chief beneficiaries of the float were the clients of the underwriters, JB Were and CommSec, some of whom made massive stag profits when the stock peaked at $8.20 on the day of its float, compared with the IPO price of $2.20. In 2000 the Victorian Auditor-General held an investigation into whether the stock was undervalued by the underwriters when listed, but concluded that the float had been carried out properly.^[9]

The University of Melbourne received a gross benefit of $93.5 million through selling 85% of its equity in the float, as well as a pre-float dividend of $1 million, but left the company with $7.5 million as working capital. The stock held up above $8 for four months following the dot-com bubble of April 2000, peaking briefly to $17 in February, but sank to $5.99 after the company released a realistic market outlook on 23 August 2000.

During January to August 2000 the founding CEO Peter Gerrand founded subsidiaries in the USA and Europe ^[1], and participated in the creation of auDA as the national domain name industry self-regulator. On 14 September he announced he would leave the company on 30 September for family reasons;[\[10\]](#) after this announcement the stock sank by a further 10%. He was succeeded by his deputy Adrian Kloeden [\[2\]](#), and continued as a consultant to the company until after the hosting of ICANN's meeting in Melbourne in March 2001. Adrian Kloeden was succeeded as CEO by Theo Hnarakis in November 2002 [\[3\]](#).

In September 2006, Melbourne IT acquired the Australian Internet hosting company, WebCentral Group (ASX:WCG) via a scheme of arrangement and delisted the WebCentral group from the ASX. Founded in 1997, WCG have 2 data centres in Brisbane, one at Wickham Street, Fortitude Valley, and another in Spring Hill at a PIPE Networks facility. Staff from Webcentral's Brisbane office also manage a large colocation area in an Equinix datacenter in Mascot, New South Wales. Dr Bruce Tonkin [\[4\]](#), who joined Melbourne IT in 1999 as Chief Technology Officer, was elected convenor of ICANN's important GNSO (Generic Names Support Organization)[\[5\]](#) constituency from June 2004 to June 2007, and will serve on the ICANN Boards as the GNSO's elected representative from May 2008.

On 30 April 2008 Melbourne IT announced it is going to purchase VeriSign's Digital Brand Management Services for US$50m.[\[11\]](#)

On 23 December 2011 Melbourne IT accidentally leaked the details of more than 28000 customers[\[12\]](#)

On 30 July 2012 Melbourne IT servers were hacked by Anonymous[\[13\]](#)

MelbourneIT was also a new gTLD consultancy, and the week of the January, 2012, which was the launch of ICANN's new gTLD application period, it announced that it had been working with over 100 applications on behalf of various clients. MelbourneIT also noted that many of their clients are Fortune 500 companies or associated with the Association of National Advertisers (ANA). The latter fact is particularly noteworthy given the fact that ANA had led a high-profile anti-gTLD expansion campaign following the approval of the program, and was successful in achieving multiple hearings in the U.S. congress and other anti-TLD expansion forums and press.

In February, 2012, one of the first public Brand TLD ventures, StarHub, announced that it had partnered with MelbourneIT's Digital Brand Services to help apply for and manage its proposed .starhub TLD. Later that month, MelbourneIT revealed that they were currently working on 120 new gTLD applications, and that they expected to bring that number to 150 before the application window closed in just over a month. It was also announced that MelbourneIT was working as new gTLD consultants with the governments of the Australian states of Victoria and New South Wales, and with ARI Registry Services, to prepare bids for .melbourne, .sydney, and .victoria.[\[23\]](#) The company ended up handling 148 applications, approximately a quarter of which came from Australian clients. [\[14\]](#)

On 29 August 2013 Melbourne IT CEO Theo Hnarakis announced[\[15\]](#) that the Syrian Electronic Army had attacked[\[16\]](#) the New York Times Web site by tricking people managing the New York Times DNS domain as a reseller of Melbourne IT to disclose their login credentials in a targeted phishing attack.

On 27 February 2014 Melbourne IT announced the acquisition of rival NetRegistry Group for $50.4 million.[\[17\]](#)[\[18\]](#)

On 17 December 2014 Websites and emails were knocked offline by a botched migration. At the time of writing both had been offline for over a month with outages continuing[\[19\]](#)

Brown, Stephen -The Marketing Code (Spoof Novel of The Da Vinci Code, 2006, 2008) * Quote from Chapter One: "The Da Vinci Code, with its arcane amalgam of esoteric symbology and cranky conspiracy theory, attractively wrapped up in a thrill-a-minute detective story, pressed all the right buttons. Better yet was Brown's post-publication withdrawal from public life. His refusal to give interviews, save in exceptional circumstances, and his 'strictly no comment' stance served only to ramp up interest in the increasingly intriguing author. As J. D. Salinger, Thomas Pynchon and Don DeLillo remind us, there's nothing more newsworthy than a newswary celebrity." * Other Stephen Brown spoofs of Dan Brown's Novels include Angels and Dealers (2008) and The Lost Logo (2009)

Patton, Guy -Masters of Deception: Murder and Intrigue In The World of Occult Politics (2009) * Warmed-up version of Web of Gold, repeating the old canards and introducing many new ones. For example, the mistaken claim by René Descadeillas that Bishop de Beauséjour "lifted Saunière's suspension" was rectified by Abbé Bruno de Monts in his 1989 book, Bérenger Saunière: Curé à Rennes-Le-Château 1885-1909 (Editions Bélisane); and here is a scan of a letter dated 22 January 1917 from Saunière's lawyer – who was still working on the priest's re-instatement on the date of his death. Also, there is a receipt in existence from Joseph Fabre showing that the roof for the Villa Béthanie cost 412.50 francs – showing that the amounts involved in creating Saunière's estate could easily have originated from the selling of masses
Patton, Guy -Poussin's Arcadian Vision: Et In Arcadia Ego, Search For The Golden Age (2014) * Appendix: "Poussin and the Mystery of Rennes-le-Château" * No mention of the fact that Adrien Bourrel – the second son of Louis Lawrence (1884-1954) – told French authors Pierre Jarnac and Franck Marie that he witnessed the construction of the tomb at Les Pontils during the early 1930s as a young boy, thus discounting any possibility of it being the tomb in Poussin's painting "Les Bergers d'Arcadie". The previous owners, the Galibert Family, had a family grave in Les Pontils dating from circa 1903 that was situated elsewhere from where Louis Lawrence's tomb was located

Robinson, editor, The Nag Hammadi Library in English, 1977, Revised Edition 1988) * Donovan Joyce (1910-1980) was one of the first to claim this codex contained a reference to Jesus being married to Mary Magdalene (The Jesus Scroll, page 95, 1973). Many other writers have claimed the same thing since – basing their arguments on the word used to describe Mary Magdalene's relationship to Jesus within the codex: koinônos (κοινωνός) – meaning companion – despite the fact that the required word needed for wife in relation to Mary Magdalene – guné (γυνή) – does not appear anywhere. The word koinônos should be understood within the wider context of Christianity where the word koinônia is applied * See also Sigebert of Gembloux, c.1030-1112 * See also Jacobus de Voraigne, c.1230-1298 * See also Peter of Vaux de Cernay * See also Gordon S. Whittall II, James P. 1932-1998 / Johnson, Gertrude ; Editors -T.C. Lethbridge – Frank Glynn Correspondence: 1950-1966 From Early Sites Research Society's Files (1980, Revised Edition 1998) * Frank Glynn (1905-1968), president of the Connecticut Archaeological Society rediscovered The Westford Knight on 30 May 1954. He thought that the carved sword was of Viking origin; T. C. Lethbridge (1901-1971), curator of the University Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology in England, identified the sword as of the fourteenth century type, suggesting that the arms, armour and heraldic emblems were akin to the first Sinclair Earl of Orkney, endorsed by British Officer of Arms and Genealogist, Sir Iain Moncreiffe (1919-1985). The carving was identified as a memorial to Sir James Gunn (born 1360) * When Frank Glynn began work on the carving in 1954, he was supervised by Lila Fisher (Eliza Capen Fisher, 1870-1957), who told him it was always called “The Old Indian” and that her brother Edward (Edward “Pete” Fisher, 1874-1953) added a carving of a peace pipe * In 1957, Frank Glynn presented a Paper to the Eastern States Archaeological Society and repeated the conventional interpretation that the carving was that of an Indian; in 1967 in a Paper entitled “A Second Mediaeval Marker at Westford, Massachusetts”, Glynn reported the carving as being that of a knight with sword, shield, crest and helmet; also reporting that geologists H. J. O’Mara and Austin Hildreth had carried out studies on it in 1957 and concluded, “The sword and profile on the ledge rock in Westford is probably five to eight hundred years old” (Eastern States Archaeological Federation Bulletin Nr 26, page 14,

June 1967)

* In 1994 Whittall made a mould of the rock that bears the carving of The Westford Knight and made a casting of it, enabling copies of it to be made
