

Introduction

pp. 9–27

CHAPTER I

PAINTING'S INTENSIFIED EXTERNALIZATION AND INTELLECTUAL PRESTIGE

For Connoisseurs Only—Painting Specialists and Their Subject Matter
pp. 32–47

The Knowledge of Painting—
Notes on Thinking and Subject-Like Pictures
pp. 48–58

The Outside Is the Inside—On Édouard Manet at the Musée d'Orsay, Paris
pp. 60–67

Painting in a Different Light—
A Conversation with Jutta Koether about Joan Mitchell
pp. 68–82

CHAPTER II

ANTI-SUBJECTIVE PROCEDURES AND SELF-ACTIVE PAINTINGS

The Force of the Impersonal Brush—Reflections on Frank Stella's Early Work
pp. 88–101

Painting as “Object-Tableau”— Ellsworth Kelly at Haus der Kunst, Munich
pp. 102–107

The Gray Haze of Subjectivity—
On Gerhard Richter at the Neue Nationalgalerie, Berlin
pp. 108–116

Unreconciled: De-skilling versus Re-skilling—
A Conversation with Charline von Heyl
pp. 118–130

CHAPTER III

PAINTING AGAINST PAINTING

Painted Critique
of Painting—
From Anti-essentialism to the Myth of Self-Activity in the 1960s and 1980s (Immendorff, Polke, Koether, Oehlen, Kippenberger)
pp. 136–157

“Hi, Here I Am, That Must Be Enough”—
The Persona and the Product in Martin Kippenberger’s Work
pp. 158–181

Painting as a Cover Story—
A Conversation with Merlin Carpenter
pp. 182–199

CHAPTER IV

PAINTING WITHOUT PAINTING

The Absent Painter—Six Theses on the Reflection on Value and Painting in the Work of Marcel Broodthaers
pp. 206–223

Painting without a Painter—
A Conversation with Wade Guyton
pp. 224–239

Human Figures with a Painterly Appeal—
On Anthropomorphism, Mannequins, and Painting in the Work of Isa Genzken and Rachel Harrison
pp. 240–257

CHAPTER V

BEYOND NETWORK PAINTING

Frozen References to Life in Avery Singer's Paintings
pp. 262–274

The Curse
of the Network—
A Conversation with Myself about Jana Euler's Paintings
pp. 276–287

Follow Me:
Painting in the Age of Social Media—
A Conversation with Alex Israel
pp. 288–312

CHAPTER VI

THE VALUE OF PAINTING

The Economy of Painting—
Reflections on the Particular Value Form of the Painted Canvas
pp. 316–333

Questions of Value—
A Conversation between Kerstin Stakemeier and Isabelle Graw
pp. 334–347

Acknowledgments
pp. 352–356

Author Biography
p. 357

Bibliographic Note
p. 359

Image Credits
pp. 361–364