

Contents

Prologue — VII

Acknowledgements — IX

Conventions — XI

Introduction — 1

Scope of the Book — 4

Medicine and Religion in Japan — 6

“Buddhist Medicine” as a Field — 11

Outline of the Book — 16

1 Buddhism, Medicine and Magic: The Boundary Problem — 20

1.1 Mysteries of “Buddhism” and “Medicine” in Premodern Japan — 24

1.2 Modern Views on Premodern Medicine — 32

1.3 Terms and Concepts for a Survey of Buddhism and Medicine — 38

2 Operating with Buddhism — 44

2.1 Operating with “Buddhism” in Modern Academic and Popular Accounts — 47

2.2 Incorporation of Buddhism and Chinese-style Medicine into Japanese Society — 52

2.3 Historiographies of Buddhism, Medicine and Healing Rituals — 58

2.4 Licit and Illicit Talismanic Cures, Rituals and Incantations — 64

3 The Eye I: An Organ as a Site of Empowerment and Healing — 70

3.1 The Eye in Buddhist Texts — 71

3.2 Eye-Opening Ceremonies — 73

3.3 Medicinal Treatment of Sight-Related Diseases — 78

3.3.1 Buddhism and Cataract Surgery in Japan — 80

3.3.2 Nāgārjuna Bodhisattva’s Ophthalmological Treatise — 87

4 The Eye II: Buddhist Healing and Living with Visual Impairment — 92

4.1 Development of Monastic Ophthalmology in Japan — 92

4.2 Monks as Doctors, Patients as Pilgrims — 98

VI — Contents

- 4.3 Miracle Healing of Blindness in Early Japanese Buddhist Records — 102
- 4.4 Musicians, Ritualists, Healers: The Professional Lives of the Visually Impaired — 106

- 5 Women: Care of the Reproductive Female Body — 111
 - 5.1 The Female Body as an Obstacle to Becoming a Buddha? — 113
 - 5.2 Care of the Reproductive Female Body — 121
 - 5.2.1 The Essentials of Medicine (Ishinpō) on Women's Health — 122
 - 5.2.2 Religious Regulations and Spells in the Essentials of Medicine (Ishinpō) — 125
 - 5.3 Care by Buddhist Women and Female Spiritual Practice — 127

- 6 Plants: Materia medica, Medicinal Gardens and Panaceas — 134
 - 6.1 Medicinal Gardens — 136
 - 6.2 Global Trade in Medicinal Drugs: Evidence from the Shōsōin Repository — 142
 - 6.3 Japanese Compendia of Incense and Drugs — 145
 - 6.4 Buddhist Panaceas Made from Potent Plants — 150

- 7 Horses and Equine Medicine — 163
 - 7.1 The Scroll of Equine Medicine (1267) — 168
 - 7.2 Horse Medicine of the Anzai School — 177
 - 7.3 A Temple Hospital for Horses — 182
 - 7.4 The Horse-headed Kannon as Protector of Animals — 186

- Conclusion: Boundaries, Maps and Types of Othering — 189
 - Distinguishing between Buddhism and Medicine — 190
 - Types of Othering — 195

- Timeline — 197

- List of Images — 204

- Bibliography — 205

- Index — 240