

Table of Contents

7	1 Introduction
8	1.1 Methodology, theoretical approach and structure of the study
10	2 Country setting: Tunisia, a culture of political non-dialogue before 2011
11	2.1 'Before': The authoritarian Ben Ali-regime
11	2.1.1 The absence of public political Islam
12	2.1.2 Putting the political opposition in their corners
14	2.1.3 UGTT
15	3 Conflict setting: The National Crisis building up to the 2013 political deadlock
16	3.1 2011 From the Kasbah sit-ins to the Political Reform Commission
18	3.2 Elections and disputes over unity government
18	3.3 Growing Disputes: The left wing and seculars' pressure on the Troika
19	3.4 The launch of Nidaa Tounes
20	3.5 New left wing coalitions
20	3.6 UGTT's pressure on the Troika
21	3.7 Pressure from 'the street' on the Troika
22	3.8 Regional and transnational actors and events: Intensification of the National Crisis
22	3.8.1 Libya: Refugees, weapons and the rise of Da'esh (Islamic State)
23	3.8.2 Rising Salafism in Tunisia
24	3.8.3 Egypt: Military coup and Islamists' fear of being removed
24	3.8.4 The Gulf Monarchies
24	3.9 Assassinations and intensification of the crisis, 2013
24	3.9.1 Assassination of Chokri Belaïd, 6 February 2013
25	3.9.2 Assassination of Mohamed Brahmi 25 July 2013
25	3.10 Deadlock 2013: Conflict setting and central actors
28	4 The 2013 National Dialogue: structure, process and outcome
28	4.1 Timing/Ripeness
29	4.1.1 Suspension of the ANC
30	4.1.2 The Paris meeting: First step in trust building
31	4.2 Preparation I: The set-up of 'the Quartet'
33	4.3 Exploration: The challenge of accepting a National Dialogue process
34	4.4 Preparation II: Agreeing on the Roadmap

35	4.5 Implementation of The Roadmap and stumbling blocks
35	4.5.1 Continued terror and pressure from ‘the street’
36	4.5.2 Replacement of the Troika government with a government of technocrats
36	4.5.3 The finalisation of the constitution according to a new procedure
37	4.5.4 The agreement on the election process
37	4.6 The role of external and international actors
39	5 Lessons learned from the Tunisian National Dialogue
40	5.1 Concluding remarks
42	6 Annex
42	List of interviewees
43	6.1 The Roadmap, English version
45	6.2 The Roadmap, Arabic version
45	مبادرة الرباعي لتسوية الأزمة السياسية
47	6.3 Bibliography