Contents

Preface & Acknowledgements

One: Opening Remarks: ‘Words, they climb!’

Two: Introduction.

Three: The Four-Sentences.

Four: The Minimalist Program.

Five: From Merge to Move.

Six: Movement-based Theoretical Applications.

Seven: Reasons for Syntactic Movement.

Eight: ‘Four Sentences’.

Nine: The Status of Move.

Ten: Five-Notes.

Note-1: A Note on the Dual Mechanism Model.

Note-2: A Note on Chomsky’s Lingua Paper: ‘Problems of Projection’.

Note-3: A Note on Proto-Language:

   A Merge-based Theory of Language Acquisition.

Note-4: A Note on Artificial Intelligence and the Recursive Implementation.

Note-5: A Note on the Brain: Boca, FOXP2, and the Role of Movement.

Appendix-1: Concluding Remarks:

   The Dual Mechanism: Studies on Language.

References & Index.