CONTENTS

ABBREVIATIONS AND SYMBOLS USED 3

1. THE LANGUAGE, ITS SPEAKERS, ITS HISTORY 15
   1.1. Geographical and demographical situation 15
   1.2. Historical background and ensuing sociolinguistic variation 18
       1.2.1. 1881 - 1900 18
       1.2.2. 1900 - 1960 24
           1.2.2.1. Bangala splitting into Lingála and Bangala 24
           1.2.2.2. Lingála during the rest of Belgian colonization 29
       1.2.3. 1960 - today 30

2. PHONOLOGY AND TONOLOGY 35
   2.1. Vowels 35
       2.1.1. Five vowel phonemes 35
       2.1.2. u for o 36
       2.1.3. Length, orality 38
       2.1.4. Remnants of vowel harmony 38
       2.1.5. Sequences of vowels: diphthongs, hiatus, and hiatus resolution 39
   2.2. Consonants and semi-consonants 45
   2.3. Phonotactic constraints 47
   2.4. Tones 48
       2.4.1. H and L 48
       2.4.2. Anticipatory ("leftward") tone spreading 49
       2.4.3. Tone stability 50
       2.4.4. Downstep 51
       2.4.5. Tonal processes in reduplicated stems 51
2.5. Issues of Lingála orthography

3. NOUN

3.1. Noun class system

3.2. Some noun classes and their prefixes in detail
   3.2.1. Variations in prefix form
   3.2.2. Classes 1 and 1a: About animacy, humans, animals
   3.2.3. Class 3: Homophony with class 1
   3.2.4. Class 6: Non-count mass nouns
   3.2.5. Class 7a: Loanwords, glossonyms, manners
   3.2.6. Class 8: Frequentatives
   3.2.7. Classes 9 and 10: Ø- and ba-
   3.2.8. Class 11: Count nouns and non-count abstract nouns
   3.2.9. Class 14: Non-count abstract nouns, non-count event nouns, gerunds
   3.2.10. Class 15: Infinitives and verb nominalization

3.3. Plural formation
   3.3.1. Plural formation by class transfer
   3.3.2. Plural formation with ba- in prefix stacking
      3.3.2.1. Manifestation
      3.3.2.2. ba- with count nouns
      3.3.2.3. ba- with non-count mass nouns
      3.3.2.4. ba- with non-count abstract nouns
      3.3.2.5. A future for ba- as generalized plural marker?
   3.3.3. Associative plural and simulative plural
   3.3.4. Pluralization avoidance for measurement nouns

3.4. Noun derivation
   3.4.1. Deverbal derivation
      3.4.1.1. Formal characteristics
      3.4.1.2. Deverbative nouns followed by objects
   3.4.2. Denominal derivation
      3.4.2.1. Class transfer through prefix substitution
      3.4.2.2. Prefix stacking with ki-
3.4.2.3. Prefix stacking with bo- 81
3.4.2.4. Reduplication 82
3.4.2.5. Compound nouns and the relational noun moyi- 82

3.5. Tonal profiles of nouns 86

4. THE NOUN PHRASE 89

4.1. Noun phrase negation: té 89

4.2. Agreement of modifiers 90

4.3. Constituent order in the noun phrase 92
   4.3.1. Head-initial constituent order 92
   4.3.2. Order of modifiers 93

5. OTHER PARTS OF SPEECH THAN NOUNS AND VERBS 97

5.1. The connective 97
   5.1.1. Possessive constructions 97
   5.1.2. Noun qualification 101
      5.1.2.1. Adnominal 101
      5.1.2.2. Predicative 104
      5.1.2.3. Summary of noun qualification and use of the connective 106
   5.1.3. Hyponymic constructions 108
   5.1.4. Inverse qualification constructions 108
   5.1.5. Ordinal quantification 109

5.2. Adjectives 110
   5.2.1. The reality of a category of adjectives in Lingála 110
   5.2.2. Number-inflected adjectives 111

5.3. Personal pronouns 113
   5.3.1. Personal pronouns, substitutives 113
   5.3.2. Simulative plural 116
   5.3.3. Anticipatory (or “inclusory”) plural 116
5.3.4. Personal pronouns as identical conjuncts 117
5.3.5. Personal pronouns as subject-bound intensifiers 118

5.4. Demonstratives 120
5.4.1. Adnominal 120
5.4.1.1. Four adnominal demonstratives 120
5.4.1.2. Situational and discourse-referential usage types 121
5.4.1.3. Demonstratives determining personal pronouns 124
5.4.2. Pronominal 125
5.4.2.1. Contrastive 125
5.4.2.2. Non-contrastive 127
5.4.3. Adverbial 128

5.5. Relativizers 129
5.5.1. Zero, óyo, and óyo wâná 129
5.5.2. Óyo and óyo wâná as nominal-relatives
      ("demonstrative-relatives") in headless relative clauses 130

5.6. mosúsu 'other' 132
5.6.1. Rationale for separate discussion 132
5.6.2. Adnominal 132
5.6.3. Pronominal 133

5.7. Numerals 134
5.7.1. Cardinals 134
5.7.2. Ordinals 136

5.8. Quantifiers 138
5.8.1. Indefinite quantifiers 138
5.8.2. Indefinite-specific quantifiers 140
5.8.3. Universal quantifiers 141
5.8.3.1. The positive universal 141
5.8.3.2. The negative universal 142

5.9. Interrogatives 144
6. VERB

6.1. The formation of verb forms

6.2. Verb roots

6.3. The subject marker
   6.3.1. The markers
   6.3.2. Semantic ("notional") vs mechanical ("formal") agreement
   6.3.3. Complex subjects
   6.3.4. Anticipatory plural in comitative constructions

6.4. The reflexive anaphor -mi-/mi- as only object marker

6.5. The final vowel -a

6.6. Non-finite verb forms
   6.6.1. Infinitive (INF): ko–R/VB–a

6.7. Moods
   6.7.2. Imperative (IMP): R/VB–á
   6.7.3. Subjunctive (SBJV): SM(high)–R/VB–a

6.8. Tense-Aspect-Modality
   6.8.8. Habitual imperative, subjunctive, infinitive
      6.8.8.3. Habitual subjunctive: SM(high)–R/VB–aka
6.8.9.  Progressive (PROGR): Auxiliary construction with -zal- ('be') and contraction to SM-zō-R/VB-a

6.8.10.  Other auxiliary verb constructions

6.8.10.1.  -sengel-: Dynamic participant-imposed and deontic necessity

6.8.10.2.  ifó: Dynamic participant-imposed, deontic, and epistemic necessity

6.8.10.3.  -yéb- ('know'): Dynamic participant-inherent possibility

6.8.10.4.  -kok- ('be able'): Dynamic participant-imposed, deontic, and epistemic possibility

6.8.10.5.  -üt- ('come from'): Immediate anteriority

6.8.10.6.  -yá- ('come'): New event or state

6.8.10.7.  -kóm- ('arrive'): New habit

6.8.10.8.  -ling- ('want'): Proximative

6.8.10.9.  -tik- ('leave behind'): Egressive

6.8.10.10.  -síl- ('end'): Iamitive

6.8.11.  Auxiliary verb constructions with more than two verbs

6.9.  Verb derivation

6.9.1.  Stem reduplication

6.9.2.  Root extensions

6.9.2.1.  General observations

6.9.2.2.  -el- : Applicative

6.9.2.3.  -is- : Causative

6.9.2.4.  -an- : Neuter/Reciprocal

6.9.2.5.  -am- : Passive

6.9.2.6.  -w- : Separative/Reversive

6.9.2.7.  -ol- : Separative/Reversive/Causative

6.9.2.8.  -uk- and -us- : Neuter and Causative

6.9.2.9.  -ik- : Impositive-intensive

6.9.2.10.  -al- : Extensive

6.9.2.11.  -at- -ot- -ut- : Contactive

6.9.2.13.  Sequences of root extensions

1.  Double applicatives (-elel-)
2. Double causatives (-isis-)
3. Double neuters/reciprocals (-anan-)
4. Double passives (unattested)
5. Applicative + causative (-elis-)
6. Causative + applicative (-isel-)
7. Applicative + neuter/reciprocal (-elan-)
8. Neuter/reciprocal + applicative (-anel-)
9. Applicative + passive (-elam-)
10. Passive + applicative (-amel-)
11. Causative + neuter/reciprocal (-isan-)
12. Neuter/reciprocal + causative (-anis-)
13. Causative + passive (-isam-)
14. Passive + causative (-amis-)
15. Neuter/reciprocal + passive (-anam-)
16. Passive + neuter/reciprocal (unattested)
17. More than two

7. THE VERB PHRASE AND THE SINGLE CLAUSE

7.1. Verb phrase negation: té

7.2. Constituent order
7.2.1. Declarative clauses
7.2.2. Interrogative clauses
7.2.3. Subject inversion constructions
   7.2.3.1. Subject-patient inversion
   7.2.3.2. Semantic locative inversion

7.3. Comparative and superlative clauses

8. CLAUSE COMBINATIONS

8.1. Complement clauses
8.1.1. Non-interrogative
8.1.2. Polar interrogative
8.1.3. Content interrogative 264

8.2. Relative clauses 265

8.3. Embedded TA categories in non-conditional clause combinations 268

8.4. TA categories in conditional clause combinations 270
   8.4.1. Table 270
   8.4.2. Factual conditional constructions 271
      8.4.2.1. Zero factual conditional constructions 271
      8.4.2.2. Non-zero factual conditional constructions 272
   8.4.3. Counterfactual conditional constructions 274

9. SOME FOCUS CONSTRUCTIONS 277
   9.1. Verb focus: Doubling the verb outside the verb phrase 277
   9.2. Subject focus with ndé as focalizer 278
      9.2.1. Ndé as adverb 278
      9.2.2. Ndé as subject-focalizing copula 278
   9.3. Subject and object focus by means of other focalizers 279
      9.3.1. Non-interrogative focus constructions 280
      9.3.2. Interrogative focus constructions 281

10. LINGÁLA-FRENCH CODESWITCHING: SOME GRAMMATICAL
    REGULARITIES 283
   10.1. The noun 284
   10.2. The noun phrase 286
   10.3. The verb 287
      10.3.1. Infinitive (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.6) 287
      10.3.2. Future (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.8) 288
      10.3.3. Present 1 (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.8.3) 288
10.3.4. Present Progressive (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.8.9) 289
10.3.5. Subjunctive (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.7.3) 289
10.3.6. Habitual (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.8.7) 290
10.3.7. Present 2 (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.8.4) 291
10.3.8. Past 1 (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.8.5) 291
10.3.9. Past 2 (grammatical meanings and functions as in 6.8.6) 292
10.3.10. Reflexive 292

11. SAMPLE TEXT 295

REFERENCES 297