

Contents

Chiara Battisti, Sidia Fiorato, Matteo Nicolini, and Thomas Perrin
Island-ness: A 'New Province' of Cross-Disciplinary Research — 1

Part One: Remote Islands as Fictional Landscapes

Daniela Carpi
The Island Metaphor in Literature and Law — 19

Andrew Majeske
Bacon's New Atlantis and the Crisis of Western Liberalism — 31

Yvonne Bezrucka
The Unbelievable History of Rose Island, a Micronation — 51

Part Two: Geographical Imaginaries: Law, Literature and Ecological Crises

Cristina Costantini
Humanistic Enchantment: A Durational Reading of Imagined Adaptations — 63

Chiara Battisti
Aldous Huxley's Island(ness): Politics and Ecology — 77

Matteo Nicolini
Common Law, Environmental Titles, and Remote Islands in Times of Climate Change — 91

Sidia Fiorato
J. M. Barrie's Peter Pan and the Island of the Self — 117

Part Three: Organising Remoteness: Legal and Institutional Perspectives

Thomas Perrin

Islands and Territorial Cooperation in the European Union: Overview and Outlooks — 141

Joseph Martinetti

A Geopolitical Study of the Mediterranean Insularity: Islands as Outposts of the European Union on the Most Intense Fracture Line in the World — 153

Francesco Duranti

Faraway, so Close: Islands and Constitutional Remoteness in the Nordic Countries — 173

Part Four: Outlining Insular Identity: Some Case Studies

Lara Giordana

From Islands-of-Islands to the Archipelago: Re-appropriating Relatedness in the Belep Islands (Kanaky-New Caledonia) — 187

Yuki Sawada

In Memory of Madama Butterfly: An Insular View on an International Convention — 207

Mate Paksy

'Jolly Good Show. Like The Coral Island' – Golding's Lord Of The Flies in the Perspective of Law and Literature — 227

Contributors — 249

Index — 253