

Table of contents

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| About this book                      | 12 |
| Preface                              | 13 |
| 1. The basis                         | 17 |
| 1.1. Art                                    | 17        |
| 1.2. The artist                             | 18        |
| 1.3. Success                                | 19        |
| 2. The system                        | 21 |
| 2.1. Players and terms                      | 21        |
| 2.2. The different leagues of the art world | 27        |
| 2.3. Mechanisms in the art system           | 29        |
| The evaluation of art                       | 29        |
| The dependencies of the players             | 29        |
| Art as a status symbol and an investment    | 30        |
| Movements and the formation of terms        | 30        |
| Discovery and exclusivity                   | 30        |
| Résumé and career progression               | 31        |
| Success attracts success                    | 31        |
| Quotas                                      | 31        |
| Nepotism and “la famiglia”                  | 32        |
| 2.4. Other influences                       | 32        |
| The economy                                 | 33        |
| Politics                                    | 33        |
| 3. Art – the reality check           | 37 |
| Art is a luxury                             | 37        |
| Art is elitist                              | 38        |
| Art is hypocritical                         | 38        |
| Art displaces people                        | 39        |
| Art for the warehouse                       | 39        |
| Art attracts dubious business dealings      | 40        |
| Art attracts speculators                    | 40        |
| 4. The life of an artist             | 43 |
| 4.1. Basic requirements                     | 44        |
| Time  | 44        |
| Money                                       | 44        |
| Work  | 45        |
| 4.2. Your microcosm                         | 46        |

|  |           |
|--|-----------|
| 4.3. Career planning                               | 47        |
| The 35-year limit                                  | 48        |
| The myth of “live fast, die young”                 | 48        |
| 4.4. Choosing the right location                   | 48        |
| 4.5. Studies                                       | 50        |
| Choice of art school and application               | 50        |
| During the study program                           | 52        |
| Degree   | 52        |
| Master’s degree, Ph.D. and semester abroad         | 53        |
| 4.6. Partners and children                         | 53        |
| Partners   | 53        |
| Children   | 55        |
| 4.7. Responsibility                                | 56        |
| Dangers and unnecessary distractions               | 57        |
| Be open and curious                                | 59        |
| 4.8. The free artist?                              | 59        |
| 4.9. The positive power of art                     | 60        |
| 5. Your demeanor as an artist               | 63 |
| 5.1. Your artist persona                           | 63        |
| Let yourself be recognizable as an artist          | 63        |
| Be identifiable as a personality in your own right | 64        |
| The story of you and your work                     | 64        |
| The artist who works in the shadows                | 65        |
| 5.2. Cultivate your brand                          | 66        |
| 5.3. General social acceptability                  | 66        |
| Be friendly without losing your focus              | 67        |
| Be communicative and sociable                      | 67        |
| The exhausting artist                              | 67        |
| 5.4. Interaction with other artists                | 67        |
| Artist friendships                                 | 68        |
| Rivalry and envy                                   | 68        |
| The me-first people                                | 69        |
| Mutual inspiration                                 | 69        |
| 6. Your art                                 | 73 |
| 6.1. Develop an understanding of art               | 73        |
| General knowledge of art                           | 73        |
| Philosophy and theory                              | 74        |
| Stay up to date                                    | 74        |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Talk about art   | 75         |
| 6.2. Your studio   | 76         |
| 6.3. Your work process                                     | 77         |
| Inspiration  | 77         |
| Motivation   | 78         |
| Reflection   | 79         |
| 6.4. Aspects of your art                                   | 79         |
| Form and technique   | 80         |
| Content and statement                                      | 81         |
| Titling  | 83         |
| Reception  | 84         |
| The pulse of time  | 85         |
| Artistic freedom   | 85         |
| 6.5. Dealing with criticism and its influence              | 86         |
| 6.6. Development   | 87         |
| Optimize your studio operations                            | 88         |
| Costs: realization versus budget                           | 89         |
| The thread that runs through your oeuvre                   | 90         |
| 6.7. Document and keep an inventory                        | 91         |
| How should you document?                                   | 91         |
| Inventory  | 92         |
| Portfolio  | 93         |
| 6.8. Artist collectives, artist groups, and collaborations | 93         |
| 7. The ten commandments                             | 97  |
| 7.1. Everything for art                                    | 97         |
| 7.2. Learn from established artists                        | 98         |
| 7.3. Work! Work!   | 98         |
| 7.4. Think big!  | 99         |
| 7.5. You have no chance alone!                             | 100        |
| 7.6. Put your ego away!                                    | 100        |
| 7.7. Invest in your art career!                            | 101        |
| 7.8. Be a networker!                                       | 101        |
| 7.9. Reflect on yourself regularly!                        | 103        |
| 7.10. Professionalism please!                              | 104        |
| 7.11. The eleventh commandment                             | 105        |
| 8. Factors and strategies for success               | 107 |
| 8.1. Factors   | 107        |
| 8.2. Strategies  | 111        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Grow with your generation                               | 112        |
| Form a group  | 112        |
| Be the wolf in sheep's clothing                         | 113        |
| Get professional help                                   | 113        |
| A strong business partner                               | 114        |
| Find a mentor   | 114        |
| Start off rich  | 115        |
| Do not rush   | 115        |
| For the more advanced: diversify                        | 116        |
| 9. Practical knowledge                           | 119 |
| 9.1. Exhibiting   | 119        |
| Promote exhibitions and establish contacts              | 120        |
| Document your exhibitions                               | 121        |
| Getting paid for exhibiting                             | 121        |
| Art school as an opportunity                            | 122        |
| 9.2. Selling  | 123        |
| What to give away, what to keep                         | 125        |
| The buyer is usually your friend                        | 125        |
| Pricing   | 126        |
| Agreements  | 128        |
| Studio sales  | 129        |
| Commissions   | 129        |
| Signature, certificate, editions                        | 130        |
| Some terms  | 131        |
| Art flipping  | 131        |
| 9.3. Working with a gallery                             | 132        |
| Requirements  | 132        |
| Finding a gallery                                       | 133        |
| Rules for collaboration                                 | 135        |
| Your gallery and you                                    | 137        |
| 9.4. Make your art collectible                          | 140        |
| The impact of collections and collectors on your career | 140        |
| Making the non-collectible collectible                  | 142        |
| 9.5. Other ways to earn money as an artist              | 142        |
| Funding and grants                                      | 142        |
| Percent for art and public art                          | 143        |
| Leverage your lifestyle                                 | 144        |
| Accepting commissions                                   | 144        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 9.6. Perfecting your résumé and your bibliography | 144        |
| Résumé  | 145        |
| Your bibliography                                 | 146        |
| Collections                                       | 147        |
| Notes on calls for applications and open calls    | 147        |
| 9.7. Self-promotion                               | 149        |
| Your communication                                | 149        |
| Maintaining contacts                              | 150        |
| Social media                                      | 151        |
| Studio events                                     | 152        |
| Website, business cards and the 20-second pitch   | 152        |
| 9.8. Bureaucracy                                  | 153        |
| Professional associations                         | 153        |
| Accounting and taxes                              | 153        |
| Sales tax   | 154        |
| Copyright and resale rights                       | 154        |
| 10. Dealing with success and failure       | 157 |
| Crises  | 159        |
| 11. Plan B or exit?                        | 161 |
| Jobs for artists                                  | 162        |
| 12. The death of the artist                | 165 |
| Closing words                              | 167 |