

Contents

Part I: Introduction and Background

Jacky Hong and Shenxue Li

- 1 Introduction — 3

Part II: Knowledge Transfer and Managerial Cognition

Yixin Sun

- 2 Reverse Knowledge Transfer from Developing Countries to Chinese Multinational Corporations: The Case of Haier — 17

Yibing Zhang and Siew-Huat Kong

- 3 Learning and Innovation in Chinese Firms: The Implication of Quanzhou Managers' Cognition in a Transition Era — 37

Part III: Entrepreneurship, Learning and Innovation

Xi Zhao, Jacky Hong and Robin Snell

- 4 Entrepreneurial Ecosystems in China — 73

Yumin Cao

- 5 Iteration of Digital Firms and Internationalization Theory: From the Perspectives of Speed and Learning — 93

Lancy Mac and Felicitas Evangelista

- 6 Can Organizational Learning Makes Chinese Exporting Firms More Entrepreneurial? — 111

Part IV: Institutions and Innovation

Gordon Redding and Chris Rowley

- 7 Societal Progress and Information: Impacts on Learning and Innovation for China and Beyond — 131

VI — Contents

Javier Calero Cuervo and Vanessa Madalena Crestejo

8 The Path of Innovation in Macau's Integrated Resort Companies:
Past Assessment for Future Scenarios — 151

List of Contributors — 181

List of Figures — 183

List of Tables — 185

Index — 187