

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Preface by Leon W. Wells	ix
Introduction by Michael D. Ryan	1
Zionism Comes to America

Chapter

1. The Anti-Semitic Revolution in Germany: Challenge for the American Jewish Congress	23
2. Hadassah's Response, 1933-39.	31
3. While Poland Was Raped.	53
4. The Precarious Vision of American Zionism, 1940-41.	75
5. The Implementation of the Final Solution.	105
6. How Belief Came Too Late for Action.	129
7. No Rescue for The Remnant	157
8. Hitler's Third Front	187
9. The Last Campaigns.	215
10. The Unremembered Holocaust	241
An Afterword by Leon W. Wells.	267

Appendices

1. Hadassah Permission Letter.	271
2. Two Letters of the Polish Embassy to the Jewish Labor Committee (Reference to Chapter 4, n. 34).	273
3. Report on the Situation of the Acceptance of Refugees by Various Countries (Reference to p. 28).	277

4.	Page of Minutes of Hadassah Board Meeting, October 3-16, 1940 (Reference to p. 57).	281
5.	Letter of Recha Freier to Leon W. Wells (Reference to p. 60).	285
6.	Ticket to Madison Square Garden Rally, July 21, 1942 (Reference to p. 123).	289
7.	Press Release by World Jewish Congress of Newspaper Stories of Religious Persecution during High Holy Days, 1942 (Reference to p.131).	291
8.	Page of Reading and Holiness , April 1943 (Reference to p. 174f).	293
9.	Page of Congress Weekly , April 27, 1945, "The Mufti As War Criminal" (Reference to p. 223)....	297
10.	Letter of Ira Hirschmann to Leon W. Wells, February 4, 1974 (Reference to p. 242).	301
11.	Letter of Gerhart M. Riegner to Leon W. Wells, October 29, 1971 (Reference to p. 252).	303
12.	Leon W. Wells' Questionnaire to Jewish Leaders and Sample Replies by Rabbi Joachim Prinz and Publisher Philip Slomovitz (Reference to p. 241 & 245ffO).	305
	Notes.	321

Selected correspondence and documents have been deposited in Manuscript and Archives, Yale University Library, New Haven, Connecticut, under Leon W. Wells' papers, Manuscript Group No. 1463.