Contents

Preface VII
Notes VIII
List of Tables IX-X

Part I
Biographies of 1094 Members and Alternate Members,
2nd-13th Central Committees, 1922-1988  1-332

Part II
Analyses of the Politburos and Central Committees  333

A. The Politburos of the 5th-13th Central Committees  335
2. The Standing Committees of the Politburos  358
3. Age Structure of the Politburos  362
4. Politburo Members Who Studied Abroad  364
5. Military Leaders Among the Politburo Members  366
6. Politburo Members Who Took Part in the Long March  369
7. Women in the Politburos  370
8. The Long-Standing Politburo Members  371

B. The 2nd-13th Central Committees, 1922-1988  373
1. The Home Provinces of the Central Committee Cadres  375
2. The Social Status of the Fathers of the Central Committee Cadres  378
3. The Education of the Central Committee Cadres  387
4. Central Committee Cadres Who Studied Abroad  391
5. Minorities in the Central Committees  395
6. Whampoa Military Academy Absolvents Among the CC Cadres  397
7. The Participants of the Long March Among the Central Committee Cadres  399
8. Central Committee Cadres Who Derived From the Red Front Armies  406
9. Central Committee Cadres Who Derived From the 8th Route Army and New 4th Army  415
10. The Generals in the Central Committees  422
11. The Fate of the Cadres of the 2nd-7th Central Committees  427
12. The Rivalry Between Party and Military Cadres  429
13. Women in the Central Committees  435
14. Purged and Later Reinstated Cadres of the Central Committee  439
15. Provincial Leaders Among the Central Committee Cadres  455
16. Government Cadres Among the Central Committee Cadres  459
17. Nepotism Among the Central Committee Cadres  465

Appendix  469
The Members and Alternate Members of the 2nd-13th Central Committees  470-481
The Congresses of the Communist Party of China  482