Contents

Preface ................................................................. ix
Abbreviations ................................................. xiii

I The Gnosis of Mani ............................................. 1
1. Mesopotamia in the Late Parthian period ............... 1
2. The teachings of Mani ........................................ 7

II The Apostle of Jesus Christ .................................. 33
1. Judaico-Christianity in Mesopotamia .................... 33
2. Mani and the 'Baptists' ...................................... 35
3. Gnostic and other Christian influences on Mani ....... 51
4. Mani's First Missionary Journeys and early writings ... 70

III Mission and the Manichaean Church ....................... 86
1. Mani's view of mission ....................................... 86
2. The first Manichaean missions to the West ............... 90
3. The political and cultural background .................... 92
4. Commerce and Mission ....................................... 96
5. The Eastward spread of Manichaeism and the death of Mani 106
6. Manichaeism in the Roman Empire after the death of Mani 115

IV The State, the Church and Manichaeism ................... 121
1. The Serpent from Persia ..................................... 121
2. From Constantine to Jovian ............................... 125
3. Sorcery and Heresy ......................................... 142

V 'Ingens fabula et longum mendacium'
- Augustine and Manichaeism ................................ 151
1. The critical appeal of Manichaeism ....................... 152
2. The sectarian appeal of Manichaeism ..................... 168
3. The aesthetic appeal of Manichaeism ..................... 175
4. Manichaeism and astrology ................................ 177
5. The ascetical appeal of Manichaeism ..................... 180
6. The dualistic appeal of Manichaeism ..................... 187
7. Augustine's break with the Manichaeans ................. 190

VI 'The most persecuted of heresies'
1. The bishops and the Manichaeans ......................... 192
2. The popes and the Manichaeans ........................... 204
3. Manichaeism in Early Byzantium ......................... 207

VII From Mesopotamia to Ch'ang-an ............................. 219
1. Manichaeism in Transoxiana .............................. 219
2. Manichaeism as the religion of the 'Western Barbarians' 225
3. Manichaeism in T'ang China ............................................... 231
4. Manichaeism in the Uighur Kingdoms of Kansu and Turfan .......... 240

VIII  Mani the Buddha of Light .................................................. 243
  1. The Chinese Manichaean texts from Tunhuang ......................... 243
  2. The eastern transformation of Manichaeism ............................... 248
  3. Mani as the Buddha of Light in China .................................. 255
  4. The Taoicisation of Mani .................................................. 257
  5. The self-identity of Chinese Manichaeism ............................... 261

IX The Religion of Light in South China ...................................... 263
  1. The Five Dynasties ....................................................... 263
  2. Manichanean scriptures and the Taoist Canon ........................... 268
  3. Manichanean and popular dissent in Northern Sung ..................... 270
  4. Manichaeism in Southern Sung .......................................... 285
  5. Manichaeism under the Mongols ......................................... 295
  6. The Religion of Light and the Dynasty of Light ........................ 298

Bibliography of works cited ................................................... 305
Index and glossary ............................................................... 347

Maps
1. The Near East in the time of Mani ................................. xviii
2. The Silk Road from China to the Roman Orient ..................... xx
3. South China ............................................................... xxii