Contents

Foreword ......................................................... v
   Heinz Gilomen, Switzerland; John P. Martin, OECD; Eugene Owen, USA

Acknowledgments .............................................. ix

Biographical Notes .......................................... xi

Introduction .................................................. 1
   Dominique Simone Rychen, Switzerland

1. Competencies for Life: A Conceptual and Empirical Challenge .... 17
   Laura Hersh Salganik, USA

2. Defining and Selecting Competencies: Historical Reflections on the Case of IQ 33
   John Carson, USA

3. Concept of Competence: A Conceptual Clarification ................. 45
   Franz E. Weinert, Germany

4. Competencies for the Good Life and the Good Society ................ 67
   Monique Canto-Sperber & Jean-Pierre Dupuy, France

5. Ambiguity, Autonomy, and Agency: Psychological Challenges to New Competence 93
   Helen Haste, UK

6. The Key to Social Fields: Competencies of an Autonomous Actor .... 121
   Philippe Perrenoud, Switzerland

7. Key Competencies Critical to Economic Success ...................... 151
   Frank Levy & Richard J. Murnane, USA

8. Competencies and Education: Contextual Diversity .................. 175
   Jack Goody, UK
9. Scholarly Comments: Common Ground ........................................... 191
   Competencies as Working Epistemologies: Ways We Want Adults to Know 192
   Robert Kegan, USA
   Joining and Functioning in Groups, Self-concept and Emotion Management 205
   Cecilia Ridgeway, USA

10. Key Competencies from the Viewpoint of Practice and Policy ............ 213
    From Unity of Purpose to Diversity of Expression and Needs:
    A Perspective from UNESCO ............................................. 214
    Jacques Delors & Alexandra Draxler, UNESCO
    Are All Key Competencies Measurable? An Education Perspective .... 222
    Bob Harris, Education International
    The Knowledge Economy: A Business Perspective ....................... 228
    Carlo Callieri, Italy
    Competency Management as an Investment: A Business Perspective ..... 232
    Jean-Patrick Farrugia, France
    Key Competencies for Whom? A Labor Perspective ....................... 236
    Laurell Ritchie, Canada
    Defining Educational Goals: A Window on the Future .................... 241
    Uri Peter Trier, Switzerland

Concluding Remarks ......................................................................... 247
   Heinz Gilomen, Switzerland; Dominique Simone Rychen, Switzerland;
   Laura Hersh Salganik, USA