Urban Planning and Cultural Inclusion
Lessons from Belfast and Berlin

Edited by

William J. V. Neill
Reader in Urban Planning
Queen's University of Belfast
Northern Ireland

and

Hanns-Uve Schwedler
Managing Director of the European Academy of the Urban Environment
Berlin
Germany
Contents

List of Figures and Table vii
List of Maps ix
Acknowledgements x
Foreword xi
Notes on the Contributors xiii

Part I  Introduction

1 Memory, Spatial Planning and the Construction of Cultural Identity in Belfast and Berlin – an Overview
   William J.V. Neill 3

2 The Urban Planning Context in Berlin: a City Twice Unique
   Hanns-Uve Schwedler 24

3 The Urban Planning Context in Belfast: a City Between War and Peace
   William J.V. Neill 42

Part II  Spatial Planning and Urban Design in Berlin and Belfast

4 A New Plan for Berlin's Inner City: Planwerk Innenstadt
   Wolfgang Sächting and Patrick Weiss 57

5 Struggle for the Inner City – a Plan Becomes a Declaration of War
   Simone Hain 69

6 Victorian and Edwardian Belfast: Preserving the Architectural Legacy of the Inner City
   Sir Charles Brett 85

7 Architectural Ambivalence: the Built Environment and Cultural Identity in Belfast
   Malachy McEldowney, Ken Sterrett and Frank Gaffkin 100
Part III  Cultural Diversity in Berlin and Belfast: Cultural Quarters within the City 119

8 Turkish Commercial and Business Activities in Berlin: a Case of Organic Urban Development and Contact 121
Renate Müller

9 Contacts and Conflicts over Worship and Burial in the Kreuzberg District of Berlin 134
Peter Heine

10 Remaking the City: the Role of Culture in Belfast 141
Frank Gaffikin, Michael Morrissey and Ken Sterrett

Part IV  Promoting the City in Berlin and Belfast 163

11 The Variety of Identities — Experiences from Berlin 165
Bernhard Schneider

12 Building a Shared Future: the Laganside Initiative in Belfast 177
Mike Smith and Kyle Alexander

13 The Culturally Inclusive City: the Belfast Potential 194
Bill Morrison

Part V  Conclusion 205

14 Planning with an Ethic of Cultural Inclusion: Lessons from Berlin and Belfast 207
William J. V. Neill and Hanns-Uve Schwedler

Bibliography 216

Index 224