Contents

Introduction .................................................. page 1
1 Manuscript, book, and text in the twenty-first century 11
2 Complexity, endurance, accessibility, beauty, sophistication, and scholarship 25
3 Script act theory ........................................... 40
4 An electronic infrastructure for representing script acts 80
   I A conceptual space for electronic knowledge sites 80
   II Practical problems .................................. 103
5 Victorian fiction: shapes shaping reading ............. 126
6 The dank cellar of electronic texts ..................... 138
7 Negotiating conflicting aims in textual scholarship 151
8 Hagiolatry, cultural engineering, monument building, and other functions of scholarly editing 161
   I The everlasting no .................................. 161
   II The center of indifference ....................... 165
   III The everlasting yea ................................ 170
9 The aesthetic object: “the subject of our mirth” 173
10 Ignorance in literary studies ......................... 189

Bibliography ............................................. 200

Index .................................................... 209