

Contents

Foreword.....	9
Introduction	11
1 The Evolutionary Project.....	19
1.1 A modernist reading of German Gothic sculpture.....	19
1.2 From individual workshops to mass-sculpture: the evolutionary narrative	27
2 Narrative and Identity	33
2.1 Narrative and identity: an interpretive framework	33
2.2 Pictorial devices: from maintenance to voyeurism	52
2.3 Spatial and temporal dimensions	53
2.4 Figures and action.....	60
2.5 Visual syntax and grammar	63
2.6 Aesthetics and emotive response	66
2.7 Seeing the Parler narratives: the observer as voyeur	67
3 The Patron Hidden in the Narrative: Female and Male Authorship in Thann.....	83
3.1 The Habsburg patronage	83
3.2 Narratives and identity: multiple voices in a non-misogynist sacred history.....	86
3.3 Rudolf's journey: political narration in Thann	121
4 Civic Pride: Art and Politics in Ulm	137
4.1 Civic tension and the new construction of Our Lady in Ulm.....	137
4.2 The legends of the Magi and the active observer.....	143
4.3 Familial and public imagery: the patron-narrator	157

5	Augsburg: the Art of Ecclesiastic Narration	165
5.1	A Pastiche portal, a farfetched iconography, and local rivalry	165
5.2	The Italian origins of the Augsburg sculpture.....	172
5.3	The Italian connection: the von Randegg patronage and the cult of St. Joseph	182
6	Art and Learning in Medieval Freiburg	193
6.1	The Parler period in Freiburg.....	193
6.2	The Freiburg hexameron: problems of iconography and affiliation.....	200
6.3	Creation of the cosmos: art and astronomy in Medieval Germany.....	206
6.4	Toward a reconstruction of an unfinished typological program	218
	Conclusions: Patrons and their Narratives; Narratives and their Observer.....	227
	Bibliography	233
	Texts	233
	Primary Sources	234
	Studies	234
	Index	245
	General Index	245
	Iconographical Index	248
	Photo Credits	251
	Reproductions.....	251