

CONTENTS

Introduction	7
I. Definition of Post-Colonialism: Hybridity, Mimicry and National Identity	23
II. Re-Inventing Culture: the Caribbean Example. Introducing the Caribbean: History and Society	41
III. Gender and Post-Colonialism	55
Pandora's Daughters: Origins of Women's Subordination	55
A Double Colonization	64
From Another Point of View: Women of the Caribbean	71
IV. Between Rite and Performance	85
Religion and Society: From Rite to Performance and Social Change	85
V. The World Upside-Down	111
Theorizing Carnival: the Grotesque Realism of a Social Ritual	111
VI. The Ambivalence of Trinidad Carnival. Music, Masking and Performance: the »Magical Mirror« of a Hybrid Society	123
»All o' we is one«: Carnival as a Symbol of National Identity and Unity	123
Carnival in Transition: Unmasking on the Street, Masking on the Stage. Dynamics and Contradictions of Women's Participation in Carnival	151
VII. Conclusion	179

References	185
Illustrations	201